FORWARD LOOKING STATEMENTS

All statements contained in this Red Herring Prospectus that are not statements of historical fact constitute forward-looking statements. All statements regarding our expected financial condition and results of operations, business, plans and prospects are forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements include statements with respect to our business strategy, our revenue and profitability, our projects and other matters discussed in this Red Herring Prospectus regarding matters that are not historical facts. Investors can generally identify forward-looking statements by the use of terminology such as “aim”, “anticipate”, “believe”, “expect”, “estimate”, “intend”, “objective”, “plan”, “project”, “may”, “will”, “will continue”, “will pursue”, “contemplate”, “future”, “goal”, “propose”, “will likely result”, “will seek to” or other words or phrases of similar import. All forward looking statements (whether made by us or any third party) are predictions and are subject to risks, uncertainties and assumptions about us that could cause actual results to differ materially from those contemplated by the relevant forward-looking statement.

Forward-looking statements reflect our current views with respect to future events and are not a guarantee of future performance. These statements are based on our management’s beliefs and assumptions, which in turn are based on currently available information. Although we believe the assumptions upon which these forward-looking statements are based are reasonable, any of these assumptions could prove to be inaccurate, and the forward-looking statements based on these assumptions could be incorrect.

Further, the actual results may differ materially from those suggested by the forward-looking statements due to risks or uncertainties associated with our expectations with respect to, but not limited to, regulatory changes pertaining to the our Sector in India where we have our businesses and our ability to respond to them, our ability to successfully implement our strategy, our growth and expansion, technological changes, our exposure to market risks, general economic and political conditions in India and overseas which have an impact on our business activities or investments, the monetary and fiscal policies of India and other jurisdictions in which we operate, inflation, deflation, unanticipated volatility in interest rates, foreign exchange rates, equity prices or other rates or prices, the performance of the financial markets in India and globally, changes in domestic laws, regulations and taxes, changes in competition in our industry and incidence of any natural calamities and / or acts of violence. Other important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from our expectations include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. Our ability to meet our working capital requirements;
2. Our ability to upgrade our service portfolio, from time to time;
3. Our ability to implement our growth strategy and expansion plan;
4. Concentration of ownership among our Promoters;
5. Our ability to attract, retain and manage qualified personnel and skilled staff;
6. Our ability to make interest and principal payments on our existing debt obligations and satisfy the other covenants contained in our existing debt agreements.
7. Any slowdown in the Indian aviation sector, particularly in passenger traffic, may reduce the hiring of cabin and cockpit crew, thereby potentially lowering demand for our training infrastructure and services.
8. Any revision to the applicable Civil Aviation Requirements that alters the permissibility or conditionality of using third-party training infrastructure may adversely impact the viability of our current operating model.
9. Upgradation in aircraft systems or safety equipments may render portions of our training equipment obsolete, and we may not be able to undertake immediate upgrades due to the capital-intensive nature of such investments.
10. Technical faults in our training infrastructure, given its complexity, may not always be resolved in a timely manner, potentially resulting in unutilized capacity and revenue loss.
11. Any malfunction or failure of training equipment during use may result in physical injury to trainees, which could subject us to civil liability or regulatory proceedings.
12. Inefficiencies in scheduling training sessions or managing equipment availability may lead to suboptimal utilization, resulting in lost revenue opportunities.
13. Our major clients include scheduled commercial airlines, who, due to their scale and market position, may exercise significant bargaining power over commercial terms.

14. While current competition within our operating segment remains limited, the potential for increased participation from new entrants could lead to pricing pressure in the future.
15. We typically receive lump sum payment after provisioning of training infrastructure for a defined period, and in certain cases, we may face recoverability challenges due to working capital constraints or financial stress within the airline sector.
16. Any slowdown or shutdown in our operations or strikes, work stoppages or increased wage demands by our employees that could interfere with our operations and cash flow.
17. Geographical concentration of business and our ability to expand our geographical area of operation;
18. Our ability to effectively manage a variety of business, legal, regulatory, economic, social and political risks associated with our operations;

For further discussions of factors that could cause our actual results to differ, please see the section titled “Risk Factors”, chapters titled “Our Business” and “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations” beginning on pages 39, 147 and 221, respectively. By their nature, certain market risk disclosures are only estimates and could be materially different from what occurs in the future. As a result, actual future gains or losses could materially differ from those that have been estimated.

SECTION II: SUMMARY OF OFFER DOCUMENT

The following is a general summary of the terms of the Offer included in this Red Herring Prospectus and is not exhaustive, nor does it purport to contain a summary of all the disclosures in this Red Herring Prospectus when filed, or all details relevant to prospective investors. This summary should be read in conjunction with, and is qualified in its entirety by, the more detailed information appearing elsewhere in this Red Herring Prospectus, including the sections titled “Risk Factors”, “The Offer”, “Capital Structure”, “Objects of the Offer”, “Our Industry”, “Our Business”, “Our Promoters and Promoter Group”, “Financial Statements as Restated”, “Outstanding Litigation and Other Material Developments” and “Offer Procedure” on pages 39, 68, 88, 100, 119, 147, 209, 220, 239 and 284 respectively.

A. OVERVIEW OF BUSINESS

We are engaged in providing infrastructure facilities for aviation training, with a core focus on safety and emergency procedure (SEP) training for cabin and cockpit crew. Headquartered in Gurgaon, we offer a comprehensive portfolio of training modules designed to align with industry standards and regulatory expectations for airline personnel.

Our business model is primarily Business-to-Business (B2B), catering to a distinguished clientele comprising A-rated domestic scheduled airlines, select Indian non-scheduled operators, and regional international carriers. In addition, we operate a limited Business-to-Customer (B2C) vertical under which we offer non-certification training programs aimed at enhancing operational and interpersonal skills relevant to the aviation and hospitality industries.

For further details kindly refer to chapter titled “Our Business” beginning on page 147.

B. OVERVIEW OF INDUSTRY

Insights into global aviation demand, airline services growth, and cabin crew-related employment have been sourced extensively from the most recent editions of the Global Market Forecast (GMF) reports published by both Boeing and Airbus. These sources serve as globally accepted benchmarks for evaluating trends in commercial aviation and related human capital requirements.

The aviation sector has demonstrated remarkable resilience throughout its history. Despite experiencing significant downturns during multiple global crises—including the Gulf crisis (1990), Asian Financial Crisis (1997), 9/11 and SARS outbreaks (2001-2004), Global Financial Crisis (2008-2010), and most recently the COVID-19 pandemic—the industry has consistently rebounded to its long-term growth trajectory.

The COVID-19 pandemic represented an unprecedented challenge, with annual aviation spending plummeting from $876 billion in 2019 to $396 billion in 2020, a 55% decline. However, by 2023, the industry successfully recovered to pre-pandemic levels, further demonstrating its fundamental strength and resilience.

For detailed information please refer to Chapter “Our Industry” on page 119.

As on date of filing of Red Herring Prospectus Ms. Rupal Sanjay Mandavia and Mr. Mitul Natvarlal Mandavia are the promoters of the company.

INTERNAL RISKS

BUSINESS RELATED RISKS

1. A criminal proceeding has been initiated against our Group Company in which one of our Promoters is a former direct; any adverse outcome may impact our Company's reputation and operations

An FIR registered under FIR No. 0130/2024 dated 20 March 2024 has been lodged by Mr. Vishok Mansingh, Partner, Vman Aero Services LLP, inter-alia against Big Charter Private Limited (BCPL) and its directors - Sanjay Natvarlal Mandavia, Rupal Sanjay Mandavia, and Chander Bahadur - at Badshahpur Police Station, Gurugram. The FIR alleges violations of Sections 120B, 409, 467, 468, and 471 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860.

It is asserted therein that BCPL had leased two ATR 72-600 aeroplanes from the complainant in 2021, payments of lease rentals were made from an escrow account with Yes Bank Limited, and that certain transactions/foreign remittances and transfer instructions purportedly issued on behalf of BCPL were not genuine and were based on forged documents, allegedly without Vman Aero Services LLP's joint authorization and in breach of the escrow waterfall covenant. The FIR alleged that BCPL, its directors and KMPs have purportedly fraudulently transferred a sum of ₹ 8,45,73,100.90/- from the Escrow Account.

Our Promoter Director, Ms. Rupal Sanjay Mandavia, was a non-executive director of BCPL during the relevant period, with no involvement in day to day management or operations. She filed her reply to the complaint on 9 January 2024. On 11 June 2024, the High Court of Punjab & Haryana, Chandigarh, granted anticipatory bail to Ms. Rupal Sanjay Mandavia, and Mr. Chander Bahadur and to Mr. Sanjay Natvarlal Mandavia on 29 May, 2024, on the condition of participating in the investigation. Ms. Rupal Sanjay Mandavia has since resigned as director of Big Charter Private Limited on 02 January 2024. As on date, no adverse findings or actions have been taken against her.

BCPL has moved a petition (registered on 19 April 2024) before the Hon'ble High Court of Punjab and Haryana under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (Case No. CRMM/19517/2024) to quash FIR No. 0130 / 2024, and this application remains pending.

The Next hearing of the above-mentioned matter has been scheduled on 04 December 2025. While the matter pertains to our Group Company, any adverse finding or development in this criminal proceeding may result in reputational harm to our Promoter and, by association, may affect investor perception, stakeholder confidence, and our Company's image.

While the matter does not pertain to our Company, any adverse finding or development in this criminal proceeding may result in reputational harm to our key Promoter (Rupal Sanjay Mandavia) and, by association, may affect investor perception, stakeholder confidence, image, business operations, financial condition and results of operations of our Company. The investigating authorities and / or Courts are empowered under the applicable laws to undertake coercive actions including arrest. No arrest has been made as on date. In fact, as aforesaid anticipatory bail has been granted. Investor should carefully consider this risk while making investment. These proceedings are in public domain, and any potential investor or subscriber, may inspect court records / websites or attend hearings, as permitted by law, for further information for tracking the current status of these proceedings. In respect of these specific proceedings, the potential financial impact or contingent liability, if any, cannot presently be estimated or quantified, as the matters are sub-judice before the competent authorities or courts. For further details, see the chapter titled "Outstanding Litigations and Material Developments" on page 239.

Our training operations are located at Gurgaon and Dwarka which are on lease basis and used for cabin and cockpit crew training which are critically dependent on the availability and proper functioning of specialized training equipment, including flight simulators and related systems. Any technical malfunction, breakdown, or prolonged downtime of such equipment may result in significant repair and maintenance costs, as well as disruptions to our training schedules. This could lead to delays in crew certification or recertification, thereby affecting our ability to meet regulatory requirements and operational commitments.

Although we strive to maintain an adequate stock of spare parts and have procedures in place for timely maintenance, delays in sourcing critical components or completing repairs may further exacerbate operational disruptions. Consequently, any associated costs would be borne entirely by us and could adversely impact our financial condition, training capacity, and service delivery.

The below mentioned are the detail of the equipments, the company is specifically dependent on for their operations:

Sr. No.	Particulars	Quantity

We enter into contracts with our clients which impose several contractual obligations upon us. If we are unable to meet these contractual obligations and / or our clients perceive any deficiency in our services, we may face legal liabilities and consequent damage to our reputation which may in-turn adversely impact our business, financial condition and results of operations. There are also some contracts, which terminable by our clients in writing upon committing any breach or non-observance of any conditions of the Agreements entered viz. fraud by our Company or any misconduct of our associate employees which could adversely affect the reputation of our clients.

While we consider all factors internally prior to entering into such contractual agreements, we cannot assure you that such clients may choose to terminate their agreements with our Company based on the terms stated above. Further, the non-compliance or breach of the terms of the contractual arrangements by either party to the agreements may lead to, among other things, damages, penalties or termination of the agreements, which may consequently result in our inability to attract further business in the future.

4. Our Company has a negative cash flow in its investing activities in financial year ending on March 31, 2025, 2024 and 2023 and in its Financing Activities in for the three months period ended June 30, 2025 and the financial year ended on March 31, 2023. Sustained negative cash flow could impact our growth and business.

Our Company had negative cash flows from our investing activities and financing activities in the previous year(s) as per the Restated Financial Statements and the same are summarized as under:

(₹ in lakhs)

Particulars	For three months period ended June 30, 2025	For the financial year ended
		March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024	March 31, 2023
	Consolidated		Standalone

Net Cash from Operating Activities	344.36	906.94	254.87	1,135.93
Net Cash from Investing Activities	30.78	-2,060.20	-1,571.33	-65.73
Net Cash from Financing Activities	-376.73	584.92	1,894.94	-524.8
Net Increase / (Decrease) in Cash & Cash Equivalents	-1.59	-568.34	578.48	545.4

The negative cashflow in investing activities is mainly because of Purchase of Property, Plant and Equipments and Investment in shares of associate entity. Further negative cashflow in financing activities is mainly due to repayment of long term and short term borrowings.

Cash flow of a company is a key indicator to show the extent of cash generated from operations to meet capital expenditure, pay dividends, repay loans, and make new investments without raising finance from external resources. If we are not able to generate sufficient cash flows in future, it may adversely affect our business and financial operations.

5. Our directors of the company had been disqualified from the appointment as a Director for non-compliance with the provisions of Section 164 of The Companies Act 2013.

Due to non-compliance under section 164 of companies act 2013, our managing director Ms. Rupal Sanjay Mandavia was disqualified from appointment as a director from financial year 2016-2017 to financial year 2020-2021. This disqualification arose due to an administrative lapse on our group companies being Flywings Aviation Training Academy Private Limited, Ambition Aviation Academy Private Limited, and Fly Wings Aviation Private Limited, where she was serving as a director.

She became aware of her disqualifications in 2018. Upon learning this, she resigned from her positions as director of Flywings Simulator Training Centre Private Limited on August 20, 2018. However, we have already filed the compounding application under section 441 of the Companies Act, 2013 dated July 05, 2024 and September 23, 2025, for the default committed under Section 167(2) of the Companies Act, 2013.

Though the period of disqualification is now over, it cannot be assured that in future similar instances of disqualification will not arise. Any such disqualification in future may lead to litigation which could be time consuming and costly and distracting for the management which may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The disqualification of directors may impact the Company's corporate governance and management capabilities. Although measures have been taken to address past compliance issues and strengthen governance practices, there is a risk that such historical events could affect investor confidence, operational continuity, and regulatory compliance going forward.

Investors should consider that past instances of director disqualification could indicate weaknesses in internal controls, regulatory compliance processes, or governance oversight. While the Company has taken steps to rectify these issues, there remains a risk of ongoing regulatory scrutiny, penalties, or operational disruptions related to historical non-compliance..

6. Our business operations are geographically concentrated in Gurgaon and Dwarka. Any disruption or adverse development in these regions may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

Our business operations are primarily concentrated in two geographic locations, namely Gurgaon and Dwarka. As a result, our business is exposed to risks arising from any adverse developments that may affect these specific regions. Any disruption, temporary shutdown, or other adverse occurrence at our facilities in either of these locations may materially and adversely affect our operations and financial performance.

This geographic concentration limits our operational diversification and subjects us to several location-specific risks, including but not limited to:

- Adverse changes in laws, regulations, or governmental policies, or changes in the political or economic environment in northern India, particularly in the state of Haryana;
- Constraints on our ability to expand and scale operations across other geographic regions due to limited diversification;
- Market perception of our Company as a regionally focused aviation training institute, which may limit our ability to compete with larger, nationally or internationally recognized institutions.

In addition, occurrences such as political unrest, civil disturbances, local protests, or opposition near our facilities may disrupt our business operations or hinder the execution of our strategic initiatives. There can be no assurance that such events will not recur in the future or that we will be able to effectively mitigate their potential impact on our business and financial condition. The below table states the location wise break up of revenue from operations:

(₹ in lakhs)

*We provide Safety and Emergency Procedures (SEP) training services to Nepal-based airlines, namely BB Airways and Himalaya Airlines. These services are rendered to their cabin crew and pilot professionals at our training facility located at Killa No. 13, Begampur Khatola, Sector 35, Gurgaon, Sadar Bazar, Haryana – 122001, India. In terms of Section 13(3)(b) of the IGST Act, 2017, the place of supply in respect of such training services is the location where the services are actually performed, i.e., Gurgaon, India. Consequently, these services do not qualify as “export of services” under Section 2(6) of the IGST Act and are treated as domestic supplies liable to GST in India.

7. We derive a majority portion of our revenue from operations from our top 10 customers, contributing 96.56% revenue from operations for the three months period ended on June 30, 2025 and 89.98%, 94.37% and 93.18% for the financial year ended March 31, 2025, 2024 and 2023 respectively. Loss of one or more of these customers or a reduction in the amount of business we obtain from them could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

Our business operations are highly dependent on our top customers, which exposes us to a high risk of customer concentration. The following table summarizes the revenue proportion of our top customers for the respective period:

(₹ in Lakhs)

Particulars	For the three months period ended on June 30, 2025		For Financial Year ended on
			March 31, 2025		March 31, 2024		March 31, 2023

Top 10 customers	392.09	96.56	1,818.61	89.98	2,095.23	94.37	966.86	93.18

Note: Percentages have been calculated by dividing customer sales by total revenue from operations.

Loss of one or more of these customers or a reduction in the amount of business we obtain from them for any reason including due to loss of, or failure to renew existing arrangements; adverse general economic conditions; disputes with such customers; decline in business of such customers; adverse changes in the financial condition of such customers; adverse change in any of such customers’ supply chain strategies; or if such customers decide to choose our competitors over us, could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

In order to retain some of our existing customers we may also be required to offer terms to such customers which we may place restraints on our resources. We cannot assure you that we will be able to maintain historic levels of business with our top customers or negotiate commercially favourable arrangements. Further, we may be reluctant to proceed against customer and strain the relations in the event of disagreements or disputes relating to our services.

8. Any Potential Regulatory Changes or revision in the provisions governing Third-Party SEP Training Infrastructure changes may lead to reduced demand from airline clients, termination or non-renewal of training partnerships, or the need for additional investment to meet revised infrastructure norms

Our cabin crew training operations are conducted in accordance with the regulatory framework prescribed by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA), specifically Civil Aviation Requirements (CAR) Section 7 - Series M, Part I, which governs Safety and Emergency Procedures (SEP) training. Under the current framework, airline operators are permitted to conduct mandatory SEP training at third-party facilities, provided the training infrastructure at such facility is representative of the requirements and subject to DGCA's approval.

Any revision to this regulatory provision, such as a requirement for SEP training to be conducted exclusively in-house by airlines, or the imposition of significantly stricter criteria for third-party training infrastructure providers could adversely affect our operations. Such changes may lead to reduced demand from airline clients, termination or non-renewal of training partnerships, or the need for additional investment to meet revised infrastructure norms.

Any material amendment to the applicable CAR that redefines the criteria or restricts the scope of permissible arrangements could negatively impact our revenue, asset utilization, and overall business outlook.

9. Our Company has, in the past, recognized certain amounts under the heads "Bad debts," "Balance written off," and "Miscellaneous Expenses" as part of Other Expenses in the Statement of Profit and Loss. Any significant increase in such expenses may adversely affect our financial performance, operating margins, and overall profitability.

Our Company has, in the past, recognized certain amounts under the heads "Bad debts," "Balance written off," and "Miscellaneous Expenses" as part of Other Expenses in the Statement of Profit and Loss. These amounts primarily represent receivables and balances that were no longer recoverable or had become irreconcilable and were therefore written off. There can be no assurance that similar write-offs or bad debts will not arise in the future. Any significant increase in such expenses may adversely affect our financial performance, operating margins, and overall profitability.

The details of Balance written off/Bad Debt as per Restated Financial Statement are as follows:

Particulars	For three months period ended on June 30, 2025	For financial year ended on
		March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024	March 31, 2023
		Consolidated	Standalone
Balance written off / Bad Debt	-	-	94.41	16.66

Investors are advised to carefully consider these historical trends and the potential for recurrence when assessing our financial health and making investment decisions.

10. Our success depends in large part upon our qualified personnel, including our senior management, directors and key personnel and our ability to attract and retain them when necessary.

Our operations are dependent on our ability to attract and retain qualified personnel. While we believe that we currently have adequate qualified personnel, we may not be able to continuously attract or retain such personnel, or retain them on acceptable terms, given the demand for such personnel. The loss of the services of our qualified personnel may adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition. We may require a long period of time to hire and train replacement personnel when qualified personnel terminate their employment with our Company. We may also be required to increase our levels of employee compensation more rapidly than in the past to remain competitive in attracting the qualified employees that our business requires. Furthermore, our senior management team is integral to the success of our business. However, we cannot assure you that we will be able to retain any or all of our management team. Any loss of our senior management or key personnel or our inability to recruit further senior managers or other key personnel could impede our growth by impairing our day-to-day operations and hindering our development of ongoing and planned projects and our ability to develop, maintain and expand customer relationships.

11. There are certain discrepancies / errors noticed in some of our corporate records relating to forms filed with the Registrar of Companies and other provisions of Companies Act, 1956 / 2013. Any penalty or action taken by any regulatory authorities in future for non-compliance with provisions of corporate and other law could impact the financial position of the Company to that extent.

16. Dependence on uninterrupted operation of our training centre is critical to our business and revenue model, and any suspension, disruption, or termination of this facility may have a material adverse impact on our operations, reputation, and financial results.

Our business is substantially dependent on the continuous operation of our training centre, which serves as the primary facility for conducting simulator-based training and safety and emergency procedure (SEP) programmes. Any disruption, suspension, or closure of this centre, whether due to regulatory non-compliance, technical breakdowns of simulators, disputes or termination of lease arrangements, financial constraints, or unforeseen events such as fire, natural disasters, or pandemics, could materially and adversely affect our business, revenue and operations. Given the centrality of the training centre to our revenue model, even a temporary closure may result in reputational harm, breach of contractual obligations with airline clients, loss of trainees, and a significant adverse impact on our financial performance. While we strive to mitigate these risks through compliance, regular maintenance, and contingency planning, there can be no assurance that such events will not occur.

17. Our business is indirectly dependent on approvals granted by DGCA to airline operators, and any adverse findings or delays in such approvals may materially affect our ability to provide training services and impact our revenues.

While our Company is not directly required to obtain approvals from the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (“DGCA”) for its operations, our business is indirectly dependent on approvals granted by DGCA to airline operators pursuant to their audits of our infrastructure facilities and determination of their suitability for training purposes. Any delay in obtaining such approvals by airline operators, adverse findings during audits, or denial of recognition of our facilities for training may restrict our ability to provide services to such operators. This may, in turn, adversely affect the utilisation of our training infrastructure, our revenues, and overall business operations

18. The Company is yet to place orders of the Equipment for our proposed object, as specified in the Objects of the Issue. Any delay in placing orders, procurement of plant & machineries may delay our implementation schedule and may also lead to increase in price of these plant & machineries, further affecting our revenue and profitability.

Our Company have identified the type of Equipment required to be bought from the proceeds of the Initial Public Offer. However, we are yet to place orders for 100% of the Equipment as detailed in the “Objects of the Issue” beginning on page 100. These are based on our estimates and on third-party quotations, which are subject to a number of variables, including possible cost overruns, changes in management’s views of the desirability of current plans, change in supplier of plant & machineries, equipment among others, which may have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations. Further, we cannot assure that we would be able to procure this plant and machineries or procure the same within budgeted costs and timelines. Delays in acquisition of the same could result in the cost and time overrun, which would have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition. For further details, please refer to the chapter titled “Objects of the Issue” beginning on page 100.

19. Our Promoter plays a key role in our functioning and we heavily rely on their knowledge and experience in operating our business and therefore, it is critical for our business that our promoter remain associated with us.

We benefit from our relationship with our Promoter and our success depends upon the continuing services of our Promoter who have been responsible for the growth of our business and is closely involved in the overall strategy, direction and management of our business. Our Promoter have been actively involved in the day-to-day operations and management. Accordingly, our performance is heavily dependent upon the services of our Promoter. If our Promoter are unable or unwilling to continue in their present position, we may not be able to replace them easily or at all. Our Promoter have over the years-built relations with various customers and connections forming part of our stakeholders. The loss of their services could impair our ability to implement our strategy, and our business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects may be materially and adversely affected.

20. Our business depends on the accuracy, confidentiality, and reliability of training records and operational systems, and any breach, error, or system failure may result in reputational harm, regulatory exposure, and adverse financial impact.

Our Company is not directly regulated by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) and our training records are not subject to DGCA inspection, but we maintain training records and operational data as part of our internal controls and information systems. Our operations depend significantly on the accuracy, integrity, and confidentiality of training records, operational systems, and data maintained for airline clients and trainees. Any breach, unauthorized access, cyber-attack, internal misconduct, inadvertent error, or system failure affecting such records or systems could result in the loss of critical business information or reduced confidence among our airline clients, who are themselves subject to DGCA oversight. Such incidents may compromise compliance with applicable regulatory requirements and contractual obligations. Inaccurate or incomplete records may expose us to penalties from regulatory authorities and adversely affect our ability to continue providing training services. Further, any breach or failure of this nature could lead to reputational damage, erosion of client trust, disruption of operations, and could materially and adversely impact our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

21. We have not entered into any non-compete agreements with our Promoters, Directors, or Key Managerial Personnel, which may result in potential conflicts of interest in the future.

Our Company has not entered into any non-compete agreements or restrictive covenants with our Promoters, Directors, or Key Managerial Personnel. As a result, there is no contractual restriction preventing them from engaging in businesses or activities that may be similar to or competitive with the current or future business operations of our Company.

While we are not currently aware of any competing ventures undertaken by these individuals, there can be no assurance that such persons will not engage in or support businesses in the same or similar line of activity in the future. Any such involvement could lead to conflicts of interest, diversion of business opportunities, or loss of competitive advantage, which may adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, or reputation.

22. Our business is dependent on the aviation training sector, and any adverse developments in the aviation industry or regulatory environment could materially impact our operations and financial performance.

Our Company is primarily engaged in the business of providing aviation training services, including but not limited to simulator-based training, commercial pilot license (CPL) training, and drone operations training. The growth and sustainability of our business are inherently linked to the overall health of the aviation sector, which is influenced by multiple external factors such as rising fuel prices, economic downturns, pandemics, changes in travel demand, or geopolitical tensions that may affect airline operations and hiring patterns.

The Revenue bifurcation of each business segments of the company are as follows

(Rs in Lakhs)

Particulars	For the period ended June 30, 2025	For the financial year ended
		March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024	March 31, 2023
Cabin crew practice session	405.37	1,942.39	2,044.19	893.26
Classroom session	0.70	2.20	5.69	2.13
Flight Deck practice session	-	76.45	170.41	142.26
Total	406.07	2,021.05	2,220.28	1,037.65

Additionally, our business is subject to stringent and evolving regulatory frameworks prescribed by bodies such as the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) and other global aviation authorities. Any changes in licensing requirements, training curriculum mandates, infrastructure guidelines, or delays in obtaining or renewing approvals may adversely impact our ability to operate or expand.

Furthermore, aviation training is capital-intensive, and demand is cyclical and sensitive to changes in airline recruitment strategies. A downturn in the aviation sector or reduction in demand for trained pilots or drone operators could significantly affect our enrolments, revenue, and profitability.

Any inability to adapt to industry developments, maintain regulatory compliance, or respond to external shocks could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations, and future prospects.

23. Our Peer Review Auditor have included an Emphasis of Matter paragraph in their examination report on the restated financial information.

Our Peer Review Auditor, in their report on the restated financial information for the period ended June 30, 2025 and financial year ended March 31, 2025, 2024 have included an Emphasis of Matter paragraph drawing attention to Note 1.14 of the financial statements. The note states that the Company has entered into foreign exchange transactions amounting to USD 40,656.24, USD 35,624.74, and USD 44,335.92 during the financial years ended March 31, 2025, 2024, and 2023 respectively, under the head "Repairs and Maintenance Expenses".

However, the Company was unable to provide supporting invoices in respect of these transactions for verification. While the auditors have not modified their opinion in respect of this matter, the inclusion of such an emphasis of matter in financial statements highlights potential lapses in documentation and internal control processes. It is pertinent to note that these transactions have not had any adverse impact on the Company's business operations and financial conditions.

The company have now started maintaining required documentation and following the internal checks of the documentation. Though the company is maintaining the documentation, we cannot assure you that similar emphasis of matter paragraphs will not form part of our financial statements in the future. Any such observations could expose us to additional scrutiny, potential liabilities, and may adversely affect our reputation, business operations, and financial condition.

24. Our business operations and future growth are significantly dependent on the availability of qualified and experienced personnel, particularly our trainers, technical staff, and support teams. The aviation training industry is highly specialized and requires skilled professionals with technical expertise and regulatory knowledge.

We face the risk of employee attrition, particularly in key operational roles, which could impact our ability to deliver high-quality training services in a consistent and timely manner. High attrition rates may lead to increased recruitment and training costs, loss of institutional knowledge, disruption in operations, and potential delays in the execution of our training programs. This could adversely affect our reputation, client relationships, and overall business performance.

The Attrition rate of the Company for past three financial years are as follows.

Particulars	For the Financial Year ended on
	March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024	March 31, 2023
Total Employees at the beginning of the year	23	25	20
Attrition (In %)	0.0%	8.0%	25.0%

While we endeavor to retain our employees through various employee engagement and development initiatives, we cannot assure that we will be successful in mitigating attrition risks in the future. Any failure to retain or attract competent personnel could adversely affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

25. Our Company is yet to place orders for the equipments to be purchased from Net Proceeds. Any delay in placing orders or procurement of such equipment may delay the schedule of implementation and possibly increase the cost of commencing operations.

Our Company has received third party quotations for the equipments proposed to be installed in the training facility located at Gurgaon. Although, we have identified the type of equipments proposed to be purchased from the Net Proceeds, we are yet to place orders for the proposed equipments. The cost of the proposed purchase of equipments is based on the quotations received from third party vendors such quotations are valid for a certain period of time and may be subject to revisions, and other commercial and technical factors.

We cannot assure that we will be able to procure the equipments in a timely manner and at the same price at which the quotations have been received. In the event of any delay in placing the orders, or an escalation in the cost of acquisition of the equipment or in the event the vendors are not able to provide the equipment in a timely manner, or at all, we may encounter time and cost overruns in expanding the capacity of our Manufacturing Facility. Further, if we are unable to procure equipment from the vendors from whom we have procured quotations, we cannot assure you that we may be able to identify alternative vendors to provide us with the equipment which satisfy our requirements at acceptable prices. Our inability to procure the equipment at acceptable prices or in a timely manner, may result in an increase in capital expenditure, the proposed schedule implementation and deployment of the Net Proceeds may be extended or may vary accordingly, thereby resulting in an adverse effect on our business, prospects and results of operations

26. Our Company has undertaken material acquisitions of Flywings Drone Training Private Limited and Ambitions Flying Club Private Limited in the past, which may involve risks and uncertainties related to integration, financial reporting, and potential liabilities.

Our company has acquired Flywings Drone Training Private Limited by making it a wholly owned Subsidiary Company and Ambitions Flying Club Private Limited as an Associate Company. These transactions, while aimed at expanding our operations and improving business efficiencies, may present challenges related to integration of operations, systems, and personnel, as well as realization of expected synergies. There is also a risk that such transactions may not yield the anticipated strategic or financial benefits within the expected timelines, or at all.

Additionally, despite conducting due diligence, there may be unforeseen liabilities or obligations such as legal claims, tax exposures, or regulatory non-compliances associated with the entities or businesses involved in these transactions. These could have a material adverse effect on our financial condition, operational performance, and reputation. Further, any delay or failure in obtaining necessary regulatory or third-party approvals related to such transactions may also impact our business continuity and growth prospects.

27. Frequent technological upgrades in aircraft systems may render our simulators outdated, requiring significant capital expenditure for upgradation or replacement, which may adversely impact our financial position.

Our training business relies heavily on the availability and relevance of certified flight simulators that are aligned with the latest aircraft technologies and regulatory standards. The aviation industry is highly dynamic, and aircraft manufacturers frequently introduce updates to cockpit instrumentation, flight management systems, avionics, and operating protocols. As a result, simulators must be upgraded periodically to reflect these changes and retain DGCA or other regulatory approvals for approved training programs.

If our existing simulators become outdated or no longer compliant with updated training curricula mandated by regulatory authorities or airline hiring partners, we may be required to undertake costly hardware and software upgrades or in some cases, procure entirely new simulators, involving significant capital expenditure. However, there have not been any past instances of frequent upgrades in aircraft systems. The inability to timely upgrade may lead to suspension of training programs, loss of certification, or student dropouts, directly affecting our revenue and market reputation.

Moreover, as technology cycles shorten and aircraft systems become increasingly digitized, the frequency and cost of upgrades may increase. Failure to maintain simulators in line with evolving standards could result in loss of competitive edge, student dissatisfaction, and regulatory non-compliance.

Given the capital-intensive nature of the aviation training business and our dependency on simulator-based training delivery, frequent technological changes may result in significant unplanned capex, which could adversely affect our financial position, cash flows, and profitability.

28. Any future outbreak of pandemic or similar public health emergency may adversely impact airline hiring and reduce demand for training, resulting in a decline in our revenues and profitability.

Any future outbreak of pandemic or similar public health emergency may adversely impact airline hiring and reduce demand for training, resulting in a decline in our revenues and profitability.

Our business model is closely tied to the aviation industry's hiring trends, particularly the demand for trained pilots and crew. During pandemics or public health emergencies, the aviation sector is one of the most severely impacted due to travel restrictions, suspension of airline operations, and depressed passenger demand. As a result, airline recruitment slows down or halts, which in turn leads to deferred or cancelled admissions to training programs. For further details, see "Our Industry" on page 119.

A similar situation occurred during the COVID-19 pandemic, when we experienced a significant reduction in new student enrolments and temporary suspension of on-site training operations in compliance with government-mandated lockdowns. Although operations have since normalized, the experience highlighted the Company's exposure to macro-health risks.

If a future pandemic or health crisis were to occur whether global, regional, or localized it may again lead to: Reduced or postponed enrolment, as students defer career plans or training expenses; Interruption of simulator and classroom training due to physical distancing mandates or lockdowns; Regulatory delays in DGCA inspections or approvals; Postponed airline recruitment drives, thereby reducing motivation to enroll.

Additionally, the perception of aviation as a career may temporarily weaken among prospective students during health crises, further dampening demand for our services.

While the Company continues to explore diversification through drone training and other verticals, the majority of our revenue is currently derived from commercial pilot and simulator-based training. As such, any future pandemic may have a material adverse impact on our revenue, operations, cash flows, and long-term growth plans.

29. Entry of international training providers or expansion of existing global players into the Indian market could erode our market share and put pressure on our pricing and margins.

The aviation training industry in India has witnessed growing interest due to increasing domestic air traffic, rising demand for trained pilots, and regulatory encouragement for skill development. While our Company has established its presence in the Indian simulator-based aviation training segment, we operate in a highly competitive and price-sensitive environment. Currently, the market is dominated by a mix of local training institutes and a limited number of foreign-affiliated players. For further details, see "Our Industry" on page 119.

However, any future entry of international aviation training providers or expansion by existing global players with deeper financial resources, advanced technology, brand recognition, and international accreditations could significantly alter the competitive landscape. Such players may introduce high-end simulators, integrated global training programs, or offer aggressive pricing to capture market share, which could result in the erosion of our existing customer base and require us to reduce fees or offer higher discounts to remain competitive.

Further, foreign players may benefit from longstanding airline tie-ups, global placement networks, and training infrastructure that exceeds domestic standards, making them more attractive to aspirants seeking international careers. This could result in increased customer acquisition costs, higher capital expenditure to match global training standards, and lower operating margins for our Company.

Additionally, if foreign players secure preferential regulatory treatment, partnerships with Indian airlines, or public-private training initiatives, it may lead to the reallocation of demand away from domestic players like us.

While we strive to enhance our training infrastructure, diversify our offerings (including drone pilot and ground school training), and maintain operational efficiency, the increasing interest of global players in the Indian aviation training market poses a significant competitive threat. The inability to effectively respond to such competition may adversely affect our market share, profitability, and growth prospects.

30. Our growth is closely linked to government initiatives in the aviation sector and expansion plans of airlines; any adverse policy changes or delays in airline hiring may negatively affect our business prospects.

The demand for aviation training in India is highly influenced by government initiatives aimed at improving air connectivity, such as the UDAN (Ude Desh ka Aam Nagrik) scheme, regional airport development, skill development programs, and regulatory frameworks issued by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA). Additionally, the expansion plans of domestic and international airlines including fleet addition, new route launches, and recruitment drives play a vital role in driving student interest and enrolment in pilot and simulator-based training programs.

Our business model is therefore inherently dependent on the continued policy support from the Government of India, as well as favorable hiring and growth momentum in the airline industry. Any change in government priorities, reduction in funding for aviation training, revisions to pilot licensing norms, or delays in approvals for new training programs could restrict the availability of eligible candidates or diminish the perceived attractiveness of aviation careers.

Further, if airlines defer their recruitment cycles, rationalize fleet expansion plans, or face financial distress as witnessed during previous downturns the aspirational demand for pilot training may decline, thereby impacting our enrolment numbers and revenue.

While the Company continues to monitor industry trends and diversify into adjacent verticals such as drone training, its core revenue is still primarily tied to the traditional commercial aviation training ecosystem. Any adverse shift in policy direction, regulatory tightening, or slowdown in airline expansion could have a material adverse effect on our business operations, revenue visibility, and long-term growth trajectory. For further details, see “Our Industry” on page 119.

31. Our business is highly dependent on technology and any disruption or failure of our technology systems may affect our operations.

We believe that our technological capabilities play a key role in helping us effectively manage our pan-India operations, maintain operational and fiscal controls, and support our efforts to enhance client service levels. Our business is significantly dependent on the efficient and uninterrupted operation of our technology infrastructure and systems. For further details, see “Our Business” on page 147.

Our operations are vulnerable to interruption by events beyond our control such as fire, earthquake, power loss, telecommunications or internet failures, terrorist attacks and computer viruses. We are also subject to hacking or other attacks on our IT systems, and we cannot assure you that we will be able to successfully block or prevent all such attacks. Any breaches of our IT systems may require us to incur further expenditure on repairs or more advanced security systems. A significant system failure could adversely affect our ability to manage overall operations, thereby affecting our ability to deliver our services to our clients, affecting our reputation and revenues. We may also be exposed to multiple claims for failed delivery of goods. If such interruption is prolonged, our business, operations, financial condition and results of operations may be materially and adversely affected.

We expect our clients to continue to demand more sophisticated and customized solutions. We may lose clients and our business could be affected if we fail to implement and maintain our technology systems or fail to upgrade or replace our technology systems to handle increased volumes, meet the demands of our clients and protect against disruptions of our operations. Our operating efficiency may decline, and our growth may suffer if our technology systems are unable to handle additional volume of our operations as we grow. Some of our existing technologies and processes in the business may become obsolete or perform less efficiently compared to newer and better technologies and processes in the future. Certain of our competitors may have access to similar or superior technology or may have better adapted themselves to technological changes. The aviation industry could also experience unexpected disruptions from technology-based start-ups. The cost of upgrading or implementing new technologies, upgrading our equipment or expanding their capacity could be significant and could adversely affect our business, operations, financial condition and results of operations.

32. Past instances of strike-off of certain Promoter Group companies by the MCA, though unrelated to our business, may be viewed unfavorably by regulators or stakeholders and could adversely affect our reputation. Certain group companies of our Promoter have in the past been compulsorily struck off by the Ministry of corporate Affairs (“MCA”).

Krishna Aviation Private Limited was struck off pursuant to a notice issued under Form STK-5 on April 07 2017, on account of failure to commence business operations within one year of incorporation and non continuation of business for two consecutive financial years without applying for the status of a dormant company under Section 455 of the Companies Act, 2013. Similarly, Flywings Charter Services Private Limited was also struck off under a notice issued under Form STK-5 on April 07, 2017, for identical reasons.

Although these companies were not engaged in activities similar to our business and their strike-off does not have a direct bearing on our operations, there can be no assurance that such instances may not be viewed unfavorably by stakeholders or regulators. Such past events relating to group entities could affect the perception of our Promoter Group's compliance history and may potentially impact our reputation.

33. We have entered into related party transactions in the past and may continue to do so in the future.

Our Company has entered into various transactions with our Promoter and associate companies. While we confirm that all such transactions are conducted on arm's length basis, there can be no assurance that we could not have achieved more favorable terms had such transactions were not entered with related parties. Furthermore, it is likely that we will enter into related party transactions in future. There can be no assurance that such transactions, individually or in aggregate, will not have an adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operation.

For details on the transactions entered by us, please refer to table mentioned on page no. 30 under chapter "Summary of Offer Document".

34. Exchange rate fluctuations may adversely affect our business, financial conditions, cash flows and results of operations.

Our financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees. However, our revenue and expenses are influenced by the currencies of the countries that we transact with as well as by currencies of countries from where we procure our plant and machinery. Our foreign currency exposures, exchange rate fluctuations between the Indian Rupee and foreign currencies, especially the USD and Euro, may have a material impact on our results of operations, cash flows and financial condition

There can be no assurance that we will continue to realize exchange gains from foreign currency fluctuations, or that our hedging strategies, if implemented, will fully mitigate the impact of adverse movements in the value of the Indian Rupee against foreign currencies. Furthermore, changes in RBI policies may restrict our ability to hedge foreign exchange exposures effectively, which could negatively impact our cash flows and results of operations. Additionally, any changes in export regulations or an economic slowdown in our export markets could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, and operating performance.

35. Our business is operating under various laws which require us to obtain approvals from the concerned statutory/regulatory authorities in the ordinary course of business and our inability to obtain, maintain or renew requisite statutory and regulatory permits and approvals for our business operations could materially and adversely affect our business, prospects, results of operations and financial condition.

Our business requires us to obtain and renew from time-to-time certain approvals, licenses, registrations and permits, some of which have expired and for which we have either made or are in the process of making an application for obtaining the approval or its renewal. In particular, our Company has applied for registration of Trade mark of their logo under class 41, having the application number 6500324. Further, these approvals, licenses, registrations and permissions under various regulations, guidelines, circulars and statutes regulated by various authorities for operating our business activities may contain conditions, some of which could be onerous. There can be no assurance that the relevant authorities will issue these approvals or licenses in a timely manner, or at all. In the event of any unanticipated delay in receipt of such approvals, it will have an adverse impact on our business operations.

Failure by us to renew, maintain or obtain the required permits or approvals at the requisite time may result in the interruption of our operations and may have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. Further, we cannot assure that the approvals, licenses, registrations and permits issued to us would not be suspended or revoked in the event of non-compliance or alleged non-compliance with any terms or conditions thereof, or pursuant to any regulatory action. Any failure to renew the approvals that have expired or apply for and obtain the required approvals, licenses, registrations or permits, or any suspension or revocation of any of the approvals, licenses, registrations and permits that have been or may be issued to us, may impede our operations. For further details, see "Government and Other Statutory Approvals" on page 248. In the event that we are unable to obtain such approvals in a timely manner or at all, our business operations may be adversely affected. We may be involved in any environmental legal proceedings in the course of our business due to non-compliances with terms and conditions of regulatory approvals or authorizations.

36. Our company has recorded higher growth in Revenue and High PAT Margins in past which may not recur or scale similarly in the future.

Our Company has recorded substantial increases in revenue during certain financial periods, including FY 2022–23 and FY 2023–24. However, a portion of this growth was driven by non-recurring contracts, bulk training program orders, or short-term client arrangements. These contracts contributed disproportionately to revenue and profitability in those periods and may not recur or scale similarly in the future.

Additionally, our Profit After Tax (PAT) margins during these periods have been higher than industry averages, partly due to the operational leverage realized from bulk orders and lower variable costs. These margins may normalize as we scale operations or diversify our service mix, which could include offerings with lower profitability.

The details of Revenue from operations and PAT for the three months period ended June 30, 2025 and financial years ended March 31, 2025, 2024 and 2023 are as follows:

(₹ in lakhs)

Particulars	Three months period ended June 30, 2025	For Financial Year ended on
		March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024	March 31, 2023
	Consolidated	Standalone
Revenue from operations	406.07	2,021.05	2,220.28	1,037.65
EBITDA	229.96	1,350.98	1,528.87	577.89
EBITDA Margin %	56.63	66.85	68.86	55.69
PAT	137.98	1,091.74	1,073.93	415.93
PAT Margin %	33.98	54.02	48.37	40.08

There can be no assurance that similar revenue levels and PAT margins will be sustained in future periods. A decline in repeat orders, delays in client payments, or inability to secure new contracts of similar scale could materially impact our financial condition, cash flow stability, and overall business performance.

Investors should consider these dynamics when evaluating our Company, as they present meaningful risks to revenue visibility and earnings consistency.

37. Lack of Qualified Chartered Engineers to Certify Our Infrastructure May Lead to Operational and Financial Challenges

Our Company operates in a highly specialized Aviation sector that involves setting up and maintaining advanced simulators, cockpit setup and crew training infrastructure. These simulators and aviation-specific equipment require deep technical understanding to evaluate the operational and maintenance Risks. Currently, there are no Chartered Engineers available who have the expertise to properly assess and certify such infrastructure.

Due to the absence of qualified professionals, we are unable to obtain a Chartered Engineer's certificate to validate the reasonableness of the cost and specifications of our proposed infrastructure. This could pose a problem in situations where such certification is required by banks, financial institutions, or other stakeholders.

The lack of this certification may delay approvals, affect funding timelines, or raise concerns with potential investors or partners about the accuracy of our reported costs. In some cases, we may also face difficulties in demonstrating compliance with technical requirements laid out by certain authorities or institutions.

While we are exploring alternate ways to validate our infrastructure, there is no guarantee that such alternatives will be accepted or timely. This could lead to added costs, longer timelines, or missed business opportunities, and may have an adverse impact on our financial and operational plans.

38. Unsecured Loans availed by our associate and subsidiary, which are repayable on demand, may adversely impact our financial stability

Our associate and subsidiary have availed unsecured loans from various lenders, including promoters, group companies, or third parties. These loans are not backed by any collateral or security and, in certain cases, are subject to recall by the lenders at any time, at their sole discretion.

There can be no assurance that the lenders of such loans will not exercise their right to demand immediate repayment. Any such recall or requirement for early repayment, particularly in the absence of adequate internal accruals or alternate financing arrangements, may adversely affect our cash flows, working capital position, and overall financial condition. Furthermore, the requirement to repay these loans on short notice could impair our ability to make other necessary business investments or meet other financial obligations, thereby materially affecting our operations and profitability.

Additionally, any adverse impact on our associates and subsidiaries due to the recall of such loans could also have a consequential negative effect on the financial performance and valuation of our Company on a consolidated basis

39. The objects of the Offer have not been appraised by any bank or financial institution and we cannot assure you that the objects of the Offer will be achieved within the expected time frame, or at all, and any variation in the utilisation of the Net Proceeds would be subject to certain compliance requirements, including prior shareholders' approval

The amount to be financed and deployed from Net Fresh Offer Proceeds are proposed to be used in the manner set out in the following table:

(₹ in lakhs)
Sr. No.	Particulars	Total Estimated Expenditure
1.	Capital Expenditure towards Pilot Training Equipment's	3,533.98
2.	General Corporate Purposes*	●
	Total	●

To be finalised upon determination of the Offer Price and updated in the Prospectus prior to filing with the RoC.*

General Corporate Purpose shall not exceed 15% of the Gross Issue Proceeds or 10 crores whichever is lesser in accordance with Regulation 230(2) of the SEBI ICDR Regulation, 2018 read along with SEBI ICDR Regulation (Amendment) Regulations, 2025

Our proposed objects of the Offer are set forth under “Objects of the Offer” on page 100. At this stage, we cannot determine with any certainty if we would require the Net Proceeds to meet any other expenditure or fund any exigencies arising out of competitive environment, business conditions, economic conditions or other factors beyond our control. In accordance with Sections 13(8) and 27 of the Companies Act 2013, we cannot undertake any variation in the utilisation of the Net Proceeds without obtaining the shareholders' approval through a special resolution. In the event of any such circumstances that require us to undertake variation in the disclosed utilisation of the Net Proceeds, we may not be able to obtain the shareholders' approval in a timely manner, or at all. Any delay or inability in obtaining such shareholders' approval may adversely affect our business or operations.

Further, our Promoters would be required to provide an exit opportunity to Shareholders who do not agree with our proposal to change the objects of the Offer or vary the terms of such contracts, at a price and manner as prescribed by SEBI. Additionally, the requirement on Promoters to provide an exit opportunity to such dissenting shareholders may deter our Promoters from agreeing to the variation of the proposed utilisation of the Net Proceeds, even if such variation is in the interest of our Company. Further, we cannot assure you that the Promoters or the controlling shareholders of our Company will have adequate resources at their disposal at all times to enable them to provide an exit opportunity at the price prescribed by SEBI. In light of these factors, we may not be able to undertake variation of objects of the Offer to use any unutilized proceeds of the Offer, if any, or vary the terms of any contract referred to in the Red Herring Prospectus, even if such variation is in the interest of our Company. This may restrict our Company's ability to respond to any change in our business or financial condition by re-deploying the unutilised portion of Net Proceeds, if any, or varying the terms of contract, which may adversely affect our business and results of operations.

40. Our Company's logo  is not registered but it is in the process of Registration with Registrar of Trademark; any infringement of our brand name or failure to get it registered may adversely affect our business.

We believe that our future growth and competitiveness would depend on our ability to establish and strengthen our brand. We cannot guarantee that we will be able to make a lasting brand image with our clients and other people in the absence of a logo. Although, we believe that our present systems are adequate to protect our confidential information and intellectual property, there can be no assurance that our intellectual property data, trade secrets or proprietary technology will not be copied, infringed or obtained by third parties. Further, our efforts to protect our intellectual property may not be adequate and may lead to erosion of our business value and our operations could be adversely affected. This may lead to litigations and any such litigations could be time consuming and costly and their outcome cannot be guaranteed. Our Company may not be able to detect any unauthorized use or take appropriate and timely steps to enforce or protect our intellectual property, which may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Finally, while we take care to ensure that we comply with the intellectual property rights of others, we cannot determine with certainty whether we are infringing any existing third-party intellectual property rights, which may force us to alter our offerings and the Company is actively addressing these risks by pursuing trademark registration for our logo and have filed the application with Registrar of Trademark dated June 27, 2024, the current status of which is “Formality Chk Pass”. We may also be susceptible to claims from third parties asserting infringement and other related claims. If similar claims are raised in the future, they could result in costly litigation, divert management's attention and resources, subject us to significant liabilities and require us to enter into potentially expensive royalty or licensing agreements or to cease certain offerings. Any of the foregoing could have an adverse effect on our business. Further, our efforts to protect these intellectual properties may not be adequate and may lead to erosion of our business value and our operations could be adversely affected. The application of laws governing intellectual property rights in India is uncertain, evolving and could involve substantial risks to us.

41. There have been some instances of delays in the filing of statutory and regulatory dues in the past with the various government authorities.

In the past, there have been certain instances of delays in filling statutory & regulatory dues with respect to GSTR 3B, TDS, Tax Liabilities, ESIC, and EPF. These delays were majorly due to the following reasons: GST: The reasons for delay in GSTR 3B was due to absence of staff, Inadvertent delay from the consultant filing the GST Returns and New Law, took time for getting updated. The details of such delays including period of delay, payment dates are as follows:

Note: GSTR 3B from the month of April 25 have not been filed yet. Also, GSTR 1 from the month of April 25 have not been filed yet.

There were instances of delayed filing of PF/ESIC for which the company has taken the corrective measures and currently the same is on track and is filed on time.

Financial Year	Month	Date of Payment	Due Date	Delay in Days
2024-25	March	15-Apr-25	19-Jun-25	65
2025-26	April	15-May-25	1-Jul-25	47
2025-26	May	15-Jun-25	1-Jul-25	16

As a result, the Company has filed returns and payments with delay penalty. However, the management of our company has taken note of these delays in fulfilling our statutory and regulatory obligations. There can be no assurance that delays or default with respect to payment of statutory and regulatory dues will not occur in the future which in turn may affect our reputation and financial results.

The Company has taken comprehensive steps to enhance regulatory compliance and mitigate the risk of inadvertent delay in filing. We have implemented a “maker and checker” control mechanism to ensure greater accuracy and accountability across all regulatory filings. Under this system, one individual (the maker) is responsible for preparing or entering information, while a second individual (the checker) independently reviews and verifies the information for accuracy before final submission.

42. We continue to explore the diversification of our business and the implementation of new services. These diversifications and our other strategic initiatives may not be successful, which may adversely affect our business and results of operations.

In order to achieve our goal, we are constantly evaluating the possibilities of expanding our business through new models, innovations and / or starting new services. Although we believe that there are synergies between our current business and our expansion plans, we do have experience or expertise in these new areas. These new businesses and modes of delivery and the implementation of our strategic initiatives may pose significant challenges to our administrative, financial and operational resources, and additional risks, including some of which we are not aware of. The early stages and evolving nature of some of our businesses also make it difficult to predict competition and consumer demand therein. Our strategic initiatives require capital and other resources, as well as management attention, which could place a burden on our resources and abilities. In addition, we cannot assure you that we will be successful in implementing any or all of our key strategic initiatives. If we are unable to successfully implement some or all of our key strategic initiatives in an effective and timely manner, or at all, our ability to maintain and improve our leading market position may be negatively impacted, which may have an adverse effect on our business and prospects, competitiveness, market position, brand name, financial condition and results of operations.

43. We depend on our relationships with our clients and other industry participants to source projects.

Our aviation training center relies heavily on our relationships with airlines to generate requirements and sustain our business. The strength of these relationships is crucial for our growth and success. Any failure to maintain these existing relationships or to cultivate new ones could significantly impact our business, potentially hindering our ability to secure projects and limiting our growth opportunities. Such setbacks could have a material adverse effect on our business, prospects, financial condition, and results of operations. Therefore, we are committed to nurturing and expanding our network of partnerships and collaborations to ensure the continued success and resilience of our training center in the competitive aviation industry landscape.

44. Further any defaults or delays in payment by a significant portion of our customers, may have an adverse effect on cash flows, results of operations and financial condition.

In the ordinary course of business, we extend credit to our clients. Our results of operations and profitability depend on the credit worthiness of our clients. Certain of these clients may have weak credit histories and we cannot assure that these counterparties will always be able to pay us in a timely fashion, or at all. Any adverse change in the financial condition of our clients may adversely affect their ability to make payments to us. Default or delays in payments by a significant portion of our clients may have an adverse effect on cash flows, results of operations and financial condition. Default or delays in payments by a significant portion of our clients may have an adverse effect on cash flows, results of operations and financial condition. However, there have been no such instances in the past which may have an adverse effect on cash flows, results of operations and financial condition of the company.

45. Our inability to manage growth could disrupt our business and reduce our profitability. We propose to expand our business activities in coming financial years.

We expect our future growth to place significant demands on both our management and our resources. This will require us to continuously evolve and improve our operational, financial and internal controls across the organisation. In particular, continued expansion increases the challenges we face in:

- Our ability to acquire and retain clients for our services;
- Services or pricing policies introduced by our competitors;
- Capital expenditure and other costs relating to our operations;
- The timing and nature of, and expenses incurred in, our marketing efforts;
- Recruiting, training and retaining sufficient skilled technical and management personnel;
- Adhering to our high quality and process execution standards;
- Maintaining high levels of client's satisfaction;
- Developing and improving our internal administrative infrastructure, particularly our financial, operational, communications, and other internal systems.

You should not rely on yearly comparisons of our results of operations as indicators of future performance. It is possible that in some future periods our results of operations may be below the expectations of public, market analysts and investors. If we are unable to manage our growth it could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

46. Brand recognition is important to the success of our business, and our inability to build and maintain our brand name will harm our business, financial condition and results of operation.

Brand recognition is important to the success of our business. Establishing and maintaining our brand name in the industry or for people relying on services is critical to the success of the customer acquisition process of our business. Although, we expect to allocate significant number of resources, financial and otherwise, on establishing and maintaining our brands, no assurance can be given that our brand name will be effective in attracting and growing user and client base for our businesses or that such efforts will be cost-effective, which may negatively affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The Company's success significantly depends on its brand recognition and reputation within the aviation industry. Failure to build and maintain strong brand name could adversely impact the Company's business, financial condition, and operation results.

Clients are more likely to choose and remain loyal to companies they recognise and trust, leading to increased revenue and market share. Strong brand recognition may allow the Company to command premium prices for its services compared to less-known competitors. A respected brand attracts and retains skilled professionals, further enhancing the Company's competitiveness. A well-established brand requires less marketing and advertising expenditure to reach target customers. If the Company fails to reach its target audience with its marketing and branding efforts, it may not achieve the desired level of brand recognition. Any negative publicity or reputational damage, such as accidents, service failures, or ethical lapses, could significantly erode brand equity and customer trust. The aviation industry is highly competitive, and established brands may significantly challenge the Company's efforts to build brand recognition. Clients' preferences can shift over time, and the Company's brand may become less relevant or appealing if it fails to adapt to changing market trends.

47. Employee fraud or misconduct could harm us by impairing our ability to attract and retain clients and subject us to significant legal liability and reputational harm.

Our business is exposed to the risk of employee misappropriation, fraud or misconduct. Our employees could make improper use or disclose confidential information, which could result in regulatory sanctions and serious reputational or financial harm. While we strive to monitor, detect and prevent fraud or misappropriation by our employees, through various internal control measures, we may be unable to adequately prevent or deter such activities in all cases. Our dependence upon automated systems to record and process transactions may further increase the risk that technical system flaws or employee tampering or manipulation of those systems will result in losses that are difficult to detect. While we have not been able to identify such issues in the past, there could be instances of fraud and misconduct by our employees, which may go unnoticed for certain periods of time before corrective action is taken. In addition, we may be subject to regulatory or other proceedings, penalties or other actions in connection with any such unauthorized transaction, fraud or misappropriation by our agents or employees, which could adversely affect our goodwill, business prospects and future financial performance. We may also be required to make good any monetary loss to the affected party. Even when we identify instances of fraud and other misconduct and pursue legal recourse or file claims with our insurance carriers, we cannot assure you that we will recover any amounts lost through such fraud or other misconduct.

48. The average cost of acquisition of Equity Shares by our Promoter may be lower than the Offer Price.

Our Promoters average cost of acquisition of Equity Shares is ₹ 1.51 which may be lower than the Offer Price as decided by the Company in consultation with the Book Running Lead Managers. For further details regarding average cost of acquisition of Equity Shares by our Promoters in our Company and build-up of Equity Shares by our Promoters in our Company, please refer chapter title "Capital Structure" beginning on page 88.

49. Our Promoters will continue to retain majority control over the Company after the Issue, which will allow them to influence the outcome of matters submitted to shareholders for approval.

Upon completion of the Issue, our Promoters will own [●] % of the Post-Issue Equity Share capital of the Company. As a result, the Promoters and Promoter Group will have the ability to exercise significant influence over all matters requiring shareholders' approval, including the election of directors and approval of significant corporate transactions. The Promoters and Promoter Group will also have an effective veto power with respect to any shareholder action or approval requiring a majority vote. Such concentration of ownership may also have the effect of delaying, preventing or deterring a change in control. For further details of Promoter' shareholding, please refer chapter titled "Capital Structure" beginning on Page No. 88.

50. Our Company will not receive any proceeds from the Offer for Sale.

This offer document comprises of an offer for sale of upto 4,74,000* Equity Shares by the promoter Ms. Rupal Sanjay Mandavia. The proceeds from the Offer pertaining to the above sale of shares will be paid to Selling Shareholder for the Equity Shares offered by it in the Offer and we will not receive any proceeds from the Offer. For further details, please refer the chapter titled "Objects of the Offer" on page 100.

* Subject to finalization of the Basis of Allotment

51. Our operating expenses include overheads that may remain fixed in the medium term. In case there is any decline in our operating performance, we may be unable to reduce such expenses.

Our operating expenses include various fixed costs, which are as such, not dependent on sales revenue. Any shortfall in sales may cause significant variations in operating results in any quarter, as we would not be able to reduce our fixed operating expenses in the short term. The effect of any decline in sales may thereby be magnified because a portion of our earnings are committed to paying these fixed costs. Accordingly, we believe that period-to-period comparisons of our results may not necessarily give a correct presentation of the performance and should not be relied upon as indications of future performance.

52. Our insurance coverage may not adequately protect us against losses, and successful claims against us that exceed our insurance coverage could harm our results of operations and diminish our financial position.

We maintain insurance coverage of the type and in the amounts that we believe are commensurate with our operations. Our insurance policies covers Fire (Material Damage), Burglary and Housebreaking, however which may not provide adequate coverage in certain circumstances and may be subject to certain deductibles, exclusions and limits on coverage. In addition, there are various types of risks and losses for which we do not maintain insurance, such as losses due to business interruption and natural disasters, because they are either uninsurable or because insurance is not available to us on acceptable terms. A successful assertion of one or more large claims against us that exceeds our available insurance coverage or results in changes in our insurance policies, including premium increases or the imposition of a larger deductible or co-insurance requirement, could adversely affect our business, future financial performance and results of operations.

For details on insurance policies taken by our Company please refer chapter titled “Our Business” on page 147.

53. Our ability to pay dividends in the future will depend upon our future earnings, financial condition, cash flows, working capital requirements, capital expenditure and restrictive covenants in our financing arrangements.

We may retain all our future earnings, if any, for use in the operations and expansion of our business. As a result, we may not declare dividends in the foreseeable future. Any future determination as to the declaration and payment of dividends will be at the discretion of our Board of Directors and will depend on factors that our Board of Directors deem relevant, including among others, our results of operations, financial condition, cash requirements, business prospects and any other financing arrangements. Additionally, under some of our loan agreements, we may not be permitted to declare any dividends, if there is a default under such loan agreements or unless our Company has paid all the dues to the lender up to the date on which the dividend is declared or paid or has made satisfactory provisions thereof. Accordingly, realization of a gain on shareholder's investments may largely depend upon the appreciation of the price of our Equity Shares. There can be no assurance that our Equity Shares will appreciate in value. For details of our dividend history, see “Dividend Policy” on page 218.

54. Any future acquisitions, joint ventures, partnerships, strategic alliances, tie-ups or investments could fail to achieve expected synergies and may disrupt our business and harm the results of operations and our financial condition.

Our success will depend, in part, on our ability to expand our business in response to changing technologies, customer demands and competitive pressures. We have, in the past, explored and continue to explore opportunities on our own, through collaborations, tie-ups, strategic alliances, partnerships or joint venture across the country and regions of focus. In some circumstances, we may also decide to acquire, or invest in, complementary technologies instead of internal development. While we are currently evaluating opportunities and negotiating with several potential partners, we have not entered into any definitive agreements. The risks we face in connection with acquisitions may include integration of product and service offerings, co-ordination of R&D and marketing functions and the diversion of management's time and focus from operating our business to addressing challenges pertaining to acquisition and integration. Our failure to address these risks or other problems encountered in connection with our acquisitions and investments could result in our failure to realize the anticipated benefits of these acquisitions or investments, cause us to incur unanticipated liabilities, and harm our business generally.

55. Any increase in interest rates would have an adverse effect on our results of operations and will expose our Company to interest rate risks.

We are dependent upon the availability of equity, cash balances and debt financing to fund our operations and growth. Any fluctuations in interest rates may directly impact the interest costs of such loans and, in particular, any increase in interest rates could adversely affect our results of operations. Furthermore, our indebtedness means that a material portion of our expected cash flow may be required to be dedicated to the payment of interest on our indebtedness, thereby reducing the funds available to us for use in our general business operations. If interest rates increase, our interest payments will increase and our ability to obtain additional debt and non-fund-based facilities could be adversely affected with a concurrent adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. For further details, please refer chapter titled “Summary of Financial Indebtedness” beginning on page 237.

56. Our lenders have imposed certain restrictive conditions on us under our financing arrangements. Under our financing arrangements, we are required to obtain the prior, written lender consent for, among other matters, changes in our capital structure, and formulation of a scheme of amalgamation or reconstruction and entering into any other borrowing arrangement. Further, we are required to maintain certain financial ratios.

There can be no assurance that we will be able to comply with these financial or other covenants or that we will be able to obtain the consents necessary to take the actions we believe are necessary to operate and grow our business. Our level of existing debt and any new debt that we incur in the future has important consequences. Any failure to comply with these requirements or other conditions or covenants under our financing agreements that are not waived by our lenders or are not otherwise cured by us, may require us to repay the borrowing in whole or part and may include other related costs. Our Company may be forced to sell some or all of its assets or limit our operations. This may adversely affect our ability to conduct our business and impair our future growth plans. Though these covenants are restrictive to some extent to the Company however it ensures financial discipline, which would help the Company in the long run to improve its financial performance.

For further information, see the chapter titled “Statement of Financial Indebtedness” on page 237.

57. Some of the KMPs is associated with our company for less than one year.

Our Key Management Personnel, Company Secretary and compliance officer is associated with the Company for a period of less than one year therefore they may not have been accustomed to the company affairs till date. For details of Key Management Personnel and their appointment, please refer to chapter “Our Management” beginning on page 188.

58. The deployment of funds raised through this Issue may not be subject to any Monitoring Agency and shall be purely dependent on the discretion of the management of Our Company.

The size of the Fresh Offer may exceed ₹ 5,000 Lakhs, in terms of Regulation 262 of the SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, 2018, because of which our Company may require to appoint a monitoring agency for the purposes of this Offer and the same shall be appointed if required before filing of Red Herring Prospectus. Our Board and Audit Committee shall monitor the utilization of the Net Proceeds.

The deployment of these funds raised from this Issue, is hence, at the discretion of the management and the Board of Directors of Our Company and Our Company’s management will have flexibility in applying the proceeds of the Issue and will not be subject to monitoring by any independent agency. The fund requirement and deployment mentioned in the Objects of the Issue is based on internal management estimates and have not been appraised by any bank or financial institution. Any inability on our part to effectively utilize the Issue proceeds could adversely affect our financials. However, our Audit Committee will monitor the utilization of the proceeds of this Issue and prepare the statement for utilization of the proceeds of this Issue. Also, in accordance with Section 27 of the Companies Act, 2013, a company shall not vary the objects of the Issue without the Company being authorized to do so by our shareholders by way of special resolution and other compliances as applicable in this regard. Our Promoter and controlling shareholders shall provide exit opportunity to such shareholders who do not agree to the proposal to vary the objects, at such price, and in such manner, as may be prescribed by SEBI, in this regard.

60. The requirements of being a public listed company may strain our resources and impose additional requirements.

With the increased scrutiny of the affairs of a public listed company by shareholders, regulators and the public at large, we will incur significant legal, accounting, corporate governance and other expenses that we did not incur in the past. We will also be subject to the provisions of the listing agreements signed with the Stock Exchange which require us to file unaudited financial results on a half yearly basis. In order to meet our financial control and disclosure obligations, significant resources and management supervision will be required. As a result, management’s attention may be diverted from other business concerns, which could have an adverse effect on our business and operations. There can be no assurance that we will be able to satisfy our reporting obligations and / or readily determine and report any changes to our results of operations in a timely manner as other listed companies. In addition, we will need to increase the strength of our management team and hire additional legal and accounting staff with appropriate public company experience and accounting knowledge and we cannot assure that we will be able to do so in a timely manner.

Issue Specific Risks:

61. There is no guarantee that our Equity Shares will be listed on the Stock Exchanges in a timely manner or at all.

In accordance with Indian law and practice, permission to list the Equity Shares will not be granted until after the Equity Shares have been issued and allotted. Approval will require all other relevant documents authorizing the issuing of our Equity Shares to be submitted. There could be a failure or delay in listing our Equity Shares on the Stock Exchange. Any failure or delay in obtaining the approval would restrict your ability to dispose of your Equity Shares

62. There are restrictions on daily / weekly / monthly movements in the price of the Equity Shares, which may adversely affect a shareholders’ ability to sell, or the price at which it can sell, Equity Shares at a particular point in time.

Once listed, we would be subject to circuit breakers imposed by all stock exchanges in India, which does not allow transactions beyond specified increases or decreases in the price of the Equity Shares. This circuit breaker operates independently of the index-based market-wide circuit breakers generally imposed by SEBI on Indian stock exchanges. The percentage limit on circuit breakers is set by the stock exchanges based on the historical volatility in the price and trading volume of the Equity Shares. The stock exchanges do not inform us of the percentage limit of the circuit breaker in effect from time to time and may change it without our knowledge. This circuit breaker limits the upward and downward movements in the price of the Equity Shares. As a result of this circuit breaker, no assurance may be given regarding your ability to sell your Equity Shares or the price at which you may be able to sell your Equity Shares at any particular time.

63. After this Issue, the price of the Equity Shares may be highly volatile, or an active trading market for the Equity Shares may not develop.

The price of the Equity Shares on the Stock Exchanges may fluctuate as a result of the factors, including:

- a) Volatility in the Indian and global capital market;

- b) Company's results of operations and financial performance;
- c) Performance of Company's competitors,
- d) Adverse media reports on Company or pertaining to the agriculture Industry;
- e) Changes in our estimates of performance or recommendations by financial analysts;
- f) Significant developments in India's economic and fiscal policies; and
- g) Significant developments in India's environmental regulations.

Current valuations may not be sustainable in the future and may also not be reflective of future valuations for our industry and our Company. There has been no public market for the Equity Shares and the prices of the Equity Shares may fluctuate after this Issue. There can be no assurance that an active trading market for the Equity Shares will develop or be sustained after this Issue or that the price at which the Equity Shares are initially traded will correspond to the price at which the Equity Shares will trade in the market subsequent to this Issue.

64. You will not be able to sell immediately on Stock Exchange any of the Equity Shares you purchase in the Issue until the Issue receives appropriate trading permissions.

The Equity Shares will be listed on the Stock Exchange. Pursuant to Indian regulations, certain actions must be completed before the Equity Shares can be listed and trading may commence. We cannot assure you that the Equity Shares will be credited to investor's demat accounts, or that trading in the Equity Shares will commence, within the time periods specified in the Red Herring Prospectus. Any failure or delay in obtaining the approval would restrict your ability to dispose of the Equity Shares. In accordance with section 40 of the Companies Act, 2013, in the event that the permission of listing the Equity Shares is denied by the stock exchanges, we are required to refund all monies collected to investors.

65. The Offer Price of our Equity Shares may not be indicative of the market price of our Equity shares after the issue.

The Offer Price of our equity Shares has been determined by Book Built method. This price is based on numerous factors and may not be indicative of the market price of our Equity Shares after the Issue. The market price of our Equity Shares could be subject to significant fluctuation after the issue and may decline below the Offer Price. We cannot assure you that you will be able to sell your Equity Shares at or above the Offer Price. For further details you may refer chapter titled "Basis for Offer Price" beginning on the page 109.

Some of the factors which may affect our share price without limitations are as follows:

- Reports on research by analysts.
- Changes in revenue.
- Variations in growth rate of our financial indicators such as earning per share, income, profit etc.
- General Market Condition
- Domestic and International Economy.

66. Sale of Equity Shares by our Promoter or other significant shareholder(s) may adversely affect the Trading price of the Equity Shares.

Any instance of disinvestments of equity shares by our Promoter or by other significant shareholder(s) may significantly affect the trading price of our Equity Shares. Further, our market price may also be adversely affected even if there is a perception or belief that such sales of Equity Shares might occur.

EXTERNAL RISKS

Industry Related Risks:

67. Changing regulations in India could lead to new compliance requirements that are uncertain. The regulatory environment in which we operate is evolving and is subject to change.

The regulatory environment in India is evolving and subject to frequent changes, which may impose new and uncertain compliance requirements on our business. The Government of India may implement new laws or regulations, or amend existing ones, that could affect the manufacturing industry or the sectors in which we operate, and such changes could result in additional compliance obligations. Compliance with, and changes to, environmental, health and safety laws, as well as various labour, workplace and related regulations, may further increase our operational and compliance costs and could adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition. These laws and regulations not only impose specific standards relating to the protection of the environment, occupational health and safety, and the welfare of employees, but are also subject to evolving interpretation and enforcement by the relevant authorities, which could create additional uncertainty for our operations. Any delay in adapting to such changes, inability to comply in a timely manner, or unexpected imposition of onerous obligations could materially impact our business and financial performance. Further, the costs associated with monitoring, implementing and complying with these changing regulations could be significant, and failure to comply could expose us to penalties, legal proceedings or reputational harm. Accordingly, any such changes in the legal and regulatory framework, or the uncertainties relating to their interpretation and enforcement, may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. For further details, see “Our Industry” on page 119.

68. Malpractices by some players in the industry affect overall performance of emerging Companies.

The industry in which our Company operates is subject to risk associated with unethical business practices such as unethical marketing, dishonest advertising, questionable pricing practices, inaccurate claims with regards to safety and efficacy of the product etc. Consumers’ attitude toward the industry today is dominated by a sense of mistrust, paving a way for regulators for stricter entry barriers and introduction of code of conducts; making the entire industry environment regulated and controlled. Malpractices by some players in the industry affects the overall performance of the emerging Companies like us as the industry norms are applicable to all at parity. Any unethical business practices by any industry player or intermediary may impact our business and results of operations.

OTHER RISKS:

69. General economic and market conditions in India and globally could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, cash flows, results of operations and prospects.

Our business is highly dependent on economic and market conditions in India and other jurisdictions where we operate. General economic and political conditions in India, such as macroeconomic and monetary policies, industry-specific trends, mergers and acquisitions activity, legislation and regulations relating to the financial and securities industries, household savings rate, investment in alternative financial instruments, upward and downward trends in the market, business and financial sectors, volatility in security prices, perceived lack of attractiveness of the Indian capital markets, inflation, foreign direct investment, consumer confidence, currency and interest rate fluctuations, availability of short-term and long-term market funding sources and cost of funding, could affect our business. Global economic and political conditions may also adversely affect the Indian economic conditions. Market conditions may change rapidly, and the Indian capital markets have experienced significant volatility in the past. The Indian economy has had sustained periods of high inflation in the recent past. If inflation or real interest rates were to rise significantly, the trends towards increased financial savings might slow down or reverse, our employee costs may increase and the sales of many of our products and services may decline. For further details, see “Our Industry” on page 119.

70. You may be subject to Indian taxes arising out of capital gains on the sale of the Equity Shares.

Under current Indian tax laws, unless specifically exempted, capital gains arising from the sale of equity shares in an Indian company is generally taxable in India. Investors may be subject to payment of long - term or short - term capital gains tax in India, in addition to payment of Securities Transaction Tax (“STT”), on the sale of any Equity Shares held for more or less than 12 months immediately preceding the date of transfer. While non-residents may claim tax treaty benefits in relation to such capital gains income, generally, Indian tax treaties do not limit India’s right to impose a tax on capital gains arising from the sale of shares of an Indian company.

The Government of India announced the interim union budget for Financial Year 2025-2026, following which the Finance Bill, 2025 (“Finance Bill”) was introduced in the Lok Sabha on February 1, 2024. The Finance Bill received the assent from the President of India and became the Finance Act, 2025, with effect from April 1, 2025.

Further, pursuant to amendments notified by the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2024, long term capital gains exceeding the exempted limit of ₹125,000 arising from the sale of listed equity shares on the stock exchange are subject to tax at the rate of 12.5% (plus applicable surcharge and cess), without benefit of indexation. Further, any capital gains realized on the sale of listed equity shares held for a period of 12 months or less immediately preceding the date of transfer will be subject to short term capital gains tax at the rate of 20% (plus applicable surcharges and cess) for transfers taking place after July 23, 2024. A securities transaction tax (“STT”) will be levied on and collected by an Indian stock exchange on which our Equity Shares are sold.

Any gain realized on the sale of our Equity Shares other than on a recognized stock exchange (where no STT has been paid), will also be subject to short term capital gains tax or long - term capital gains tax, at such rates as may be applicable under the Income Tax Act. Further, capital gains arising from the sale of our Equity Shares will be exempt 96 from taxation in India in cases where an exemption is provided under a treaty between India and the country of which the seller is a resident, subject to certain conditions being met. Subject to any relief available under an applicable tax treaty or under the laws of their own jurisdictions, residents of other countries may be liable for tax in India as well as in their own jurisdictions on gains arising from a sale of our Equity Shares. Investors are advised to consult their own tax advisors to understand their tax liability as per the laws prevailing on the date of disposal of Equity Shares.

The Finance Act, 2019 amended the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 with effect from July 1, 2020 and clarified that, in the absence of a specific provision under an agreement, the liability to pay stamp duty in case of sale of securities through stock exchanges will be on the buyer, while in other cases of transfer for consideration through a depository, the onus will be on the transferor. The stamp duty for transfer of certain securities, other than debentures, on a delivery basis is currently specified at 0.015% and on a non - delivery basis is specified at 0.003% of the consideration amount.

Under the Finance Act 2020, any dividends paid by an Indian company will be subject to tax in the hands of the shareholders at applicable rates. Such taxes will be withheld by the Indian company paying dividends. The Company may or may not grant the benefit of a tax treaty (where applicable) to a non - resident shareholder for the purposes of deducting tax at source pursuant to any corporate action including dividends. Investors are advised to consult their own tax advisors and to carefully consider the potential tax consequences of owning Equity Shares.

Investors are advised to consult their own tax advisors to understand their tax liability as per the laws prevailing on the date of disposal of Equity Shares. Further, pursuant to the Finance Act 2024 II, any payment received by the shareholders from the Company pursuant to buyback of shares undertaken after October 1, 2024 on account of buy back of shares shall be taxable as dividend and no deduction from such dividend income shall be allowed.

We cannot predict whether any amendments made pursuant to the Finance Acts would have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition. Unfavorable changes in or interpretations of existing laws, rules and regulations, or the promulgation of new laws, rules and regulations including foreign investment and stamp duty laws governing our business and operations could result in us being deemed to be in contravention of such laws and may require us to apply for additional approvals.

71. Significant differences exist between Indian GAAP and other accounting principles, such as U.S. GAAP and IFRS, which may be material to the financial statements, prepared and presented in accordance with SEBI ICDR Regulations contained in this Red Herring Prospectus.

72. Political instability or a change in economic liberalization and deregulation policies could seriously harm business and economic conditions in India generally and our business in particular.

The Government of India has traditionally exercised and continues to exercise influence over many aspects of the economy. Our business and the market price and liquidity of our Equity Shares may be affected by interest rates, changes in Government policy, taxation, social and civil unrest and other political, economic or other developments in or affecting India. The rate of economic liberalization could change, and specific laws and policies affecting the information technology sector, foreign investment and other matters affecting investment in our securities could change as well. Any significant change in such liberalization and deregulation policies could adversely affect business and economic conditions in India, generally, and our business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations, in particular.

73. Financial instability in Indian Financial Markets could adversely affect our Company's results of operation and financial condition.

In this globalized world, the Indian economy and financial markets are significantly influenced by worldwide economic, financial and market conditions. Any financial turmoil, say in the United States of America, Europe, China or other emerging economies, may have a negative impact on the Indian economy. Although economic conditions differ in each country, investors' reactions to any significant developments in one country can have adverse effects on the financial and market conditions in other countries. A loss in investor confidence in the financial systems, particularly in other emerging markets, may cause increased volatility in Indian financial markets. Indian financial markets have also experienced the contagion effect of the global financial turmoil. Any prolonged financial crisis may have an adverse impact on the Indian economy, thereby resulting in a material and adverse effect on our Company's business, operations, financial condition, profitability and price of its Shares. Stock exchanges in India have in the past experienced substantial fluctuations in the prices of listed securities.

Further, there is no assurance that they are stated or compiled on the same basis or with the same degree of accuracy, as the case may be, elsewhere.

75. Global economic, political and social conditions may harm our ability to do business, increase our costs and negatively affect our stock price.

Global economic and political factors that are beyond our control, influence forecasts and directly affect performance. These factors include interest rates, rates of economic growth, fiscal and monetary policies of governments, inflation, deflation, foreign exchange fluctuations, consumer credit availability, fluctuations in commodities markets, consumer debt levels, unemployment trends and other matters that influence consumer confidence, spending and tourism. Increasing volatility in financial markets may cause these factors to change with a greater degree of frequency a magnitude, which may negatively affect our stock prices.

76. Foreign investors are subject to foreign investment restrictions under Indian law that limits our ability to attract foreign investors, which may adversely impact the market price of the Equity Shares.

Under the foreign exchange regulations currently in force in India, transfers of shares between non-residents and residents are freely permitted (subject to certain exceptions) if they comply with the pricing guidelines and reporting requirements specified by the RBI. If the transfer of shares, which are sought to be transferred, is not in compliance with such pricing guidelines or reporting requirements or fall under any of the exceptions referred to above, then the prior approval of the RBI will be required. Additionally, shareholders who seek to convert the Rupee proceeds from a sale of shares in India into foreign currency and repatriate that foreign currency from India will require a no objection / tax clearance certificate from the income tax authority. There can be no assurance that any approval required from the RBI or any other government agency can be obtained on any particular terms or at all.

77. Natural calamities could have a negative impact on the Indian economy and cause Our Company's business to suffer.

India has experienced natural calamities such as earthquakes, tsunamis, floods etc. In recent years, the extent and severity of these natural disasters determine their impact on the Indian economy. Prolonged spells of abnormal rainfall or other natural calamities could have a negative impact on the Indian economy, which could adversely affect our business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations as well as the price of the Equity Shares.

78. Terrorist attacks, civil unrests and other acts of violence or war involving India or other countries could adversely affect the financial markets, our business, financial condition and the price of our Equity Shares.

Any major hostilities involving India or other acts of violence, including civil unrest or similar events that are beyond our control, could have a material adverse effect on India's economy and our business. Incidents such as the terrorist attacks, other incidents such as those in US, Indonesia, Madrid and London, and other acts of violence may adversely affect the Indian stock markets where our Equity Shares will trade as well the global equity markets generally. Such acts could negatively impact business sentiment as well as trade between countries, which could adversely affect our Company's business and profitability. Additionally, such events could have a material adverse effect on the market for securities of Indian companies, including the Equity Shares.

79. Any downgrading of India's sovereign rating by an independent agency may harm our ability to raise financing.

Any adverse revisions to India's credit ratings for domestic and international debt by international rating agencies may adversely impact our ability to raise additional financing, and the interest rates and other commercial terms at which such additional financing may be available. This could have an adverse effect on our business and future financial performance, our ability to obtain financing for capital expenditures and the trading price of our Equity Shares.

Illustration of the Book Building and Price Discovery Process: Bidders should note that this example is solely for illustrative purposes and is not specific to the Offer; it also excludes Bidding by Anchor Investors. Bidders can bid at any price within the Price Band. For instance, assume a Price Band of ₹20 to ₹24.00 per share, Offer size of 3,000 Equity Shares and receipt of five Bids from Bidders, details of which are shown in the table below. The illustrative book given below shows the demand for the Equity Shares of the Issuer at various prices and is collated from Bids received from various investors.

Bid Quantity	Amount (₹)	Cumulative Quantity	Subscription
500	24.00	500	16.67%
1000	23.00	1500	50.00%
1500	22.00	3000	100.00%
2000	21.00	5000	166.67%
2500	20.00	7500	250.00%

The price discovery is a function of demand at various prices. The highest price at which the Issuer is able to Offer the desired number of Equity Shares is the price at which the book cuts off, i.e., ₹22 in the above example. The Issuer, in consultation with the Book Running Lead Managers, may finalise the Offer Price at or below such Cut-Off Price, i.e., at or below ₹22. All Bids at or above this Offer Price and cut-off Bids are valid Bids and are considered for allocation in the respective categories.

Rationale and Expected Benefits

The Company does not have a fixed order book. However, its growth is supported by the steady expansion of the aviation industry, as explained below:

1) Surging Demand for Pilots in India

India is projected to require 10,900 additional pilots by FY 2030, with the total number of pilots needing to nearly double—from approximately 11,745 currently to around 22,400

(Source: <https://travel.economictimes.indiatimes.com/news/aviation/domestic/pilot-shortage-threatens-indias-aviation-growth-plans-warns-jaideep-mirchandani/116909929>)

2) Growth of the Training and Simulation Market

The global civil aviation training and simulation market stood at US $5.48 billion in 2025 and is expected to grow at a CAGR of ~5.4% between 2025 and 2033. (Source: <https://www.datainsightsmarket.com/reports/civil-aviation-flight-training-and-simulation-market-17840>)

Furthermore, other forecasts anticipate this market expanding from US $6.8 billion in 2023 to US $13.6 billion by 2033, at a CAGR of approximately 7.65% (Source: <https://www.consainsights.com/reports/civil-aviation-flight-training-and-simulation-market>)

Simultaneously, the global aviation training and simulation market reached US $8.9 billion in 2024, largely driven by technological innovation and increased demand for skilled training professionals. The market is expected to grow at a CAGR of 6.7% from 2025 to 2033, reaching a forecasted value of USD 15.4 billion by 2033. The primary growth factor behind this expansion is the ongoing modernization of aviation fleets, coupled with a heightened focus on safety, regulatory compliance, and operational efficiency across both commercial and military aviation sectors.

(Source: <https://growthmarketreports.com/report/aviation-training-and-simulation-market>).

The proposed investment is critical for:

- Enhancing the quality and scope of our training offerings.
- Enabling us to train pilots on Airbus A320neo-specific procedures.
- Supporting new contracts with airlines and charter operators seeking simulation training.

The proposed investment in CEET 320 Equipment, Motion Platforms, and Fixed Base Simulators is critical to our operations and help us to improve operations as listed below:

CEET (Cabin Emergency Evacuation Trainer) 320 –

- i. Enhanced Cabin Crew Training: Provides realistic, hands-on training for cabin crew members in emergency evacuation, safety drills, and service operations with motion on against static (current CEET)
- ii. Emergency Preparedness: Equips crew to practice evacuation procedures using slides, ensuring better response in actual emergencies. Real time scenario.
- iii. Passenger Handling Simulation: Allows training on boarding, deplaning, cabin announcements, and passenger interactions under controlled conditions. .
- iv. Compliance & Certification: Meets regulatory requirements for recurrent crew training and certification audits by aviation authorities.

Cabin Visual System - This component provides a realistic visual representation of the aircraft cabin during training sessions. High-resolution displays or VR (Virtual Reality) technology may be used to simulate various emergency conditions, such as smoke, fire, or passenger panic. The system improves situational awareness and helps crew members practice coordination and communication during evacuations.

Slide Single Trainer - A dedicated module for practicing the deployment and use of emergency evacuation slides. Trainees learn how to properly activate, inflate, and descend via slides in different scenarios (e.g., land or water landings). The trainer ensures that crew members are proficient in handling slides, which is crucial for passenger safety during real emergencies

6 DOF Motion Platform –

- High-Fidelity Flight Simulation: Replicates aircraft movement in six axes (pitch, roll, yaw, surge, sway, heave), giving crew a near-realistic flying experience.
- Improved crew Proficiency: Enables training in handling turbulence, adverse weather, and emergency conditions without safety risks.
- Cost Efficiency: Reduces the need for in-aircraft training hours, saving fuel and operational costs.
- Safety & Risk-Free Training: Allows crew to experience and master dangerous scenarios that cannot be replicated safely in real flights.

Fixed Base Flight Simulator: Airbus A320neo FTD –

- India is 3rd fastest growing market in jointly order between TATA and Indigo total A320 order stands over 1000 pilots. Such large order requires pilots to operate them hence we forecast thousands of qualify pilots' requirements on A320. In addition, India is likely to roll out MPL (Multi pilots license) program very soon hence simulator requirements will increase in multi fold.
- Airline-Specific Training: Dedicated to A320neo pilots, enhancing type-rating training and recurrent checks. Remedial training to improve passing rates.
- Operational Familiarity: Improves cockpit resource management (CRM), navigation, and systems training.
- Flexible Usage: Can be used for basic flight training, recurrent sessions, procedures practice, and scenario-based exercises.
- Regulatory Recognition: Complies with DGCA/EASA/FAA standards, enabling training hours to be logged officially.

a) Lower corporate tax rate on income of domestic companies under Section 115BAA of the ITA

The Taxation Laws (Amendment) Act, 2019 introduced section 115BAA wherein domestic companies are entitled to avail a concessional tax rate of 22% (plus applicable surcharge and cess) on fulfillment of certain conditions.

The option to apply for this tax rate is available from Financial Year (FY’) 2019-20 relevant to Assessment Year(‘AY’)2020-21 and the option once exercised through filing of Form 10IC on the Income tax portal shall apply to subsequent assessment years. The concessional tax rate of 22% is subject to the company not availing any of the following deductions under the provisions of the ITA:

- Section 10AA: Tax holiday available to units in a Special Economic Zone.
- Section 32(1)(ia): Additional depreciation.
- Section 32AD: Investment allowance.
- Section 33AB/3ABA: Tea coffee rubber development expenses/site restoration expenses
- Section 35(1)/35(2AA)/ 35(2AB): Expenditure on scientific research.
- Section 35AD: Deduction for capital expenditure incurred on specified businesses.
- Section 35CCC/35CCD: expenditure on agricultural extension /skill development
- Chapter VI-A except for the provisions of section 80JJAA and section 80M.

The total income of a company availing the concessional rate of 25.168% (i.e., 22% along with surcharge of 10% and health and education cess of 4%) is required to be computed without set off any carried forward loss and depreciation attributable to any of the aforesaid deductions/incentives. A company can exercise the option to apply for the concessional tax rate by filing Form 10IC on or before the due date of filing return of income under section 139(1) of the ITA. Further, provisions of Minimum Alternate Tax (‘MAT’) under section 115JB of the ITA shall not be applicable to companies availing this reduced tax rate, thus, any carried forward MAT credit also cannot be claimed. The provisions do not specify any limitation/condition on account of turnover, nature of business or date of incorporation for opting for the concessional tax rate. Accordingly, all existing as well as new domestic companies are eligible to avail this concessional rate of tax.

Note: The Company has opted the lower rate under section 115BAA of the Income Tax Act.

b) Deduction with respect to inter-corporate dividends –Section 80M of the ITA

As per the provisions of section 80M of the ITA, inserted with effect from 01 April 2020 i.e., AY 2021-22, a domestic company shall be allowed to claim a deduction of dividend income earned from any other domestic company or a foreign company or a business trust. The amount of deduction so claimed should not exceed the amount of dividend distributed by it on or before the due date. In this case, due date means one month prior to the due date of furnishing return of income under sub section (1) of section 139 of the ITA.

The company has one associate and one group company on which company has invested and thus, the company should be eligible to claim deduction under section 80M of the ITA in respect of dividends received (if any) from these and further distributed to its shareholders subject to fulfillment of other conditions.

2. Special Tax Benefits available to Shareholders

a) Dividend Income

Dividend income earned by the shareholders would be taxable in their hands at the applicable rates. However, in the case of domestic corporate shareholder, benefit of deduction under section 80M of the ITA would be available on fulfilling the conditions. Further, Finance Act 2021 restricted surcharge to 15% in respect of dividend income

1. Economic Outlook

1.1 Global Economy

The global economy remains resilient but faces persistent uncertainty. The International Monetary Fund projects world output to expand by 3.0 percent in 2025 and 3.1 percent in 2026, reflecting a slight upward revision from earlier forecasts due to stronger trade activity, lower effective tariff rates, and improved financial conditions. Headline inflation is expected to decline to 4.2 percent in 2025 and 3.6 percent in 2026, although outcomes vary across economies, with the United States likely to remain above target while the euro area and several emerging markets experience more subdued pressures. Downside risks remain prominent, including the possibility of renewed tariff escalation, continued geopolitical tensions in the Middle East and Eastern Europe, and rising fiscal vulnerabilities in advanced economies. Such developments could disrupt global supply chains, elevate commodity prices, and tighten financial conditions. Conversely, constructive trade agreements and credible fiscal consolidation could restore predictability, foster investment, and provide a stronger base for medium term growth.

World Economic Outlook - Real GDP growth (in %) - International Monetary Fund

Global growth is projected at 3.0 percent in 2025 and 3.1 percent in 2026, below the pre pandemic average of 3.7 percent recorded during 2000 to 2019. While the near-term outlook has been revised slightly upward from April 2025, the global growth profile remains fragile and uneven across regions.

Among advanced economies, the United States is expected to expand by 1.9 percent in 2025 and 2.0 percent in 2026, reflecting lower effective tariff rates, improved financial conditions, and fiscal support from recent policy measures. Growth is expected to converge toward potential as private demand normalises.

In the euro area, growth is projected at 1.0 percent in 2025 and 1.2 percent in 2026, supported by investment and net exports but restrained by weak household consumption and policy uncertainty.

Other advanced economies are forecast to grow at 1.6 percent in 2025 and 2.1 percent in 2026, with outcomes shaped by currency movements and trade policy changes. Japan is expected to grow at 0.7 percent in 2025 before moderating to 0.5 percent in 2026, reflecting soft domestic demand.

Emerging market and developing economies are projected to grow by 4.1 percent in 2025 and 4.0 percent in 2026. Within Asia, China's growth outlook has been revised upward to 4.8 percent in 2025 and 4.2 percent in 2026, supported by stronger than expected activity in the first half of 2025, fiscal measures, and reduced tariff pressures, partly offset by continued property sector weakness.

India remains one of the fastest growing large economies, with growth expected at 6.4 percent in both 2025 and 2026, reflecting resilient domestic demand and a supportive external environment.

In the Middle East and Central Asia, growth is forecast at 3.4 percent in 2025 and 3.5 percent in 2026, with a stronger outlook for Saudi Arabia where growth is projected at 3.6 percent and 3.9 percent respectively on account of policy support and recovery in oil output.

Sub Saharan Africa is expected to grow at 4.0 percent in 2025 and 4.3 percent in 2026, supported by investment and rising consumption.

In Latin America and the Caribbean, growth is projected at 2.2 percent in 2025 and 2.4 percent in 2026, reflecting steady but modest expansion in the region's largest economies.

Emerging and developing Europe is expected to expand at 1.8 percent in 2025 and 2.2 percent in 2026, weighed down by weak momentum and lingering geopolitical uncertainties.

Key Considerations

1. Global Growth Resilient but Below Historical Average

World GDP growth is projected at 3.0 percent in 2025 and 3.1 percent in 2026, a slight upward revision from April but still well below the pre pandemic average of 3.7 percent. The near-term improvement reflects stronger trade activity and better financial conditions, though the overall profile remains fragile.

2. Divergence between Services and Manufacturing

Services continue to expand at a stronger pace, supported by resilient consumption and investment in information-based industries, while manufacturing growth remains uneven and subject to supply chain adjustments linked to trade policy shifts.

3. Disinflation Continues but is Uneven Across Economies

Global headline inflation is expected to ease to 4.2 percent in 2025 and 3.6 percent in 2026, broadly in line with April projections. Inflation is expected to remain above target in the United States, while price pressures in the euro area and several emerging markets are more subdued. Risks remain from potential tariff escalation and renewed commodity price shocks.

4. Monetary Policy Easing Underway but Uneven

Policy rates in the United States and the United Kingdom are projected to decline during the second half of 2025, while the euro area is expected to maintain current settings and Japan to pursue gradual tightening. The divergence reflects different stages of disinflation and country specific conditions.

5. Trade Activity Distorted by Tariff Front-Loading

Global trade volumes have been revised upward for 2025, reflecting front-loading of activity ahead of potential tariff increases. This effect is expected to fade in 2026, resulting in weaker trade growth. Tariff related uncertainty remains a central driver of near-term global activity.

6. Financial Conditions Have Eased but Fiscal Risks Remain

Global financial conditions have become more accommodative, with equity markets recovering and capital inflows resuming in emerging markets. However, large fiscal deficits in several advanced economies, notably the United States, continue to raise concerns about long term debt sustainability and potential volatility in sovereign bond markets.

7. Geopolitical Tensions and Policy Uncertainty Persist

The outlook is subject to elevated downside risks from geopolitical developments in the Middle East and Eastern Europe and from uncertainty around the trajectory of US tariff policy. Any renewed escalation could disrupt supply chains, lift commodity prices, and challenge central banks in balancing price stability with growth support.

8. Structural Vulnerabilities in Financial Systems

Private credit markets and non-bank financial institutions remain areas of growing importance. Their increasing interconnectedness with traditional banks raises risks of contagion, especially in a context of elevated leverage and uneven regulatory oversight.

1.2 Overview of the Indian economy

As of April 2025, India's Gross Domestic Product (GDP) is estimated to be $4.19 trillion, having doubled from $2.1 trillion in 2015, according to the latest data published by the International Monetary Fund. Several high frequency indicators for the first and second quarter of FY 2025-26 point to continued resilience in the Indian economy, with momentum supported by steady private consumption, sustained investment activity, and broad-based expansion in services. Rural demand showed signs of recovery aided by easing food inflation and improved agricultural prospects, while urban consumption remained buoyant on the back of strong discretionary spending. Consumer confidence strengthened further, reflecting optimism about the year ahead and an improvement in the assessment of current conditions. Supply chain pressures continued to remain below historical averages, supporting manufacturing and trade activity.

GDP is expected to grow 6.8% during FY 2025-26 as per the Reserve Bank of India's latest Bulletin – October 2025, and this momentum is set to be sustained at similar rates throughout FY 2025-26 and 2026-27 positioning India as the fastest growing major economy in the world.

India's economy continued to display resilience in the first quarter of FY 2025-26, with Gross Domestic Product at current prices registering ₹86.05 lakh crore, an expansion of 8.8 percent over the corresponding period of the previous year. Growth was broad based across expenditure components, with consumption and investment activity maintaining momentum and external trade showing steady performance despite a challenging global backdrop.

Private Final Consumption Expenditure, which constitutes approximately 60 percent of GDP, rose to ₹51.87 lakh crore in Q1 FY2026, marking an annual growth of 9.4 percent. This sustained increase reflects continued urban discretionary demand, gradual revival of rural spending supported by moderation in food inflation, and healthy activity in categories such as automobiles, fast moving consumer goods, housing and consumer durables. High frequency indicators reinforce this trend, with Goods and Services Tax collections and Unified Payments Interface transactions maintaining double digit expansion through the first half of calendar year 2025.

Government Final Consumption Expenditure stood at ₹8.70 lakh crore, with its share in GDP stable at just above 10 percent. The pace of expansion moderated as fiscal consolidation efforts remained on track to align with the Union Government's fiscal deficit objective of 5.1 percent of GDP. Nonetheless, capital outlays have been preserved, particularly in transport infrastructure and defence, which is reflected in continued strength in public capital formation. Gross Fixed Capital Formation reached ₹26.15 lakh crore, representing 30.4 percent of GDP. The growth of 6.8 percent, though lower than the 9.2 percent expansion recorded in the previous year, points to sustained momentum in infrastructure development, manufacturing capacity creation and investment in power and transmission projects. Government capital expenditure has continued to play a catalytic role by crowding in private sector investment, a trend corroborated by rising imports of capital goods, which registered double digit growth in the latest high frequency data.

On the external front, exports of goods and services in Q1 FY2026 rose to ₹17.96 lakh crore, expanding by 14.5 percent year on year and constituting over 20 percent of GDP. Imports grew by 16.7 percent to ₹21.98 lakh crore, reflecting strong demand for capital goods and intermediate products. Net trade remains a moderating factor for GDP growth but is accompanied by higher remittance inflows, which continue to support household disposable income.

High frequency indicators of industrial and services activity, as reported in the Reserve Bank of India Bulletin of August 2025, also provide evidence of sustained momentum. In industry, the Index of Industrial Production maintained positive growth with capital goods production expanding in double digits during several recent months. Steel production, cement output and electricity generation showed sequential improvement after weather related volatility earlier in the year. In services, the Purchasing Managers' Index remained consistently above 58, signalling strong expansion. Passenger air traffic and port cargo volumes registered healthy year on year growth, while hotel occupancy and tourist arrivals improved alongside recovery in discretionary travel.

Overall, the macroeconomic environment during the first quarter of FY2026 reflects a balance between steady private consumption, strong public and private investment in infrastructure, and resilient services activity, even as global uncertainties continue to weigh on external demand. The combination of rising household incomes, targeted fiscal support for capital creation, and structural drivers such as digital adoption and urbanisation continue to reinforce India's medium term growth outlook.

Sectoral Composition of GVA: Building Blocks of India's Growth Story

India's Gross Value Added at Basic Prices expanded by 8.8 percent in Q1 FY2025–26, following a 9.5 percent rise in the corresponding quarter of the previous year. The composition of growth underscores the continued primacy of the tertiary sector while the primary and secondary sectors display contrasting dynamics that are material for the industrial and manufacturing ecosystem, including fabricated metals and allied industries.

Primary Sector (↑1.7 percent YoY in Q1 FY2026): Agricultural stability with mining weakness
The primary sector registered a modest growth of 1.7 percent in Q1 FY2026, a clear deceleration from the 8.0 percent expansion in the previous year. Agriculture, livestock, forestry and fishing recorded an increase of 3.2 percent supported by favourable sowing conditions and stable horticultural output. This resilience provided partial support to rural incomes amid persisting weather related uncertainties. In contrast, mining and quarrying contracted by 10.1 percent owing to weaker coal and mineral ore production and supply side constraints. The contraction in mining weighed on cost structures across energy intensive and bulk commodity reliant industries.

Secondary Sector (↑8.2 percent YoY in Q1 FY2026): Broad based momentum across manufacturing and construction. The secondary sector expanded by 8.2 percent in Q1 FY2026 compared with 9.2 percent a year earlier, reflecting sustained but moderated growth.

1. Manufacturing GVA rose by 8.8 percent, improving from 8.4 percent in the previous year. Robust performance in automobiles, capital goods and select PLI linked industries offset softness in consumer durables and textiles. For fabricated metal producers, rising demand from automotive, engineering and capital equipment provided downstream support.
2. Electricity, gas, water supply and other utility services grew by 2.1 percent, following a 7.1 percent expansion last year. The slower growth indicates stabilization of base demand after a period of strong expansion, even as renewable capacity additions continued.
3. Construction posted a healthy 9.4 percent rise after 11.0 percent in the previous year. Public infrastructure programmes in roads, railways and urban housing remained the primary driver. Execution momentum in large states sustained demand for steel, cement and fabricated structures.

Tertiary Sector (↑11.9 percent YoY in Q1 FY2026): Services remain the anchor of growth. The tertiary sector, which accounts for the largest share of GVA, grew by 11.9 percent in Q1 FY2026 compared with 10.0 percent in the same period last year.

1. Financial, real estate and professional services recorded an expansion of 11.0 percent, improving from 9.7 percent previously. Rising credit offtake, resilient real estate activity and continued demand for professional services underpinned this growth. The sector indirectly supported industrial growth through housing finance, infrastructure funding and corporate expansion.
2. Public administration, defence and other services grew strongly by 11.3 percent after an exceptionally high 16.7 percent in the previous year. The sector continues to be supported by government expenditure, defence procurement and welfare related disbursements.
3. Trade, hotels, transport, communication and services related to broadcasting registered 9.4 percent growth, accelerating from 7.7 percent a year earlier. The improvement reflects higher freight and passenger traffic, stronger retail sales and robust e commerce penetration. These developments have spillover effects on logistics infrastructure and associated demand for fabricated warehousing and distribution assets.

2. Aviation Sector Overview

Market Resilience and Recovery

The aviation sector has demonstrated remarkable resilience throughout its history. Despite experiencing significant downturns during multiple global crises including the Gulf crisis (1990), Asian Financial Crisis (1997), 9/11 and SARS outbreaks (2001-2004), Global Financial Crisis (2008-2010), and most recently the COVID-19 pandemic—the industry has consistently rebounded to its long-term growth trajectory.

The COVID-19 pandemic represented an unprecedented challenge, with annual aviation spending plummeting from $876 billion in 2019 to $396 billion in 2020, a 55% decline. However, by 2023, the industry successfully recovered to pre-pandemic levels, further demonstrating its fundamental strength and resilience.

Growth Trajectory

The decade preceding the pandemic (2010-2019) was characterized by exceptional growth that exceeded industry forecasts. Following the pandemic disruption, Revenue Passenger Kilometres (RPK) grew by 36.6% in 2023 due to base effects, moderating to 11.6% in 2024 as the industry surpassed 2019 (pre-COVID) levels.

Source: IATA, Airbus GMF * includes scheduled and non-scheduled flights

Industry projections indicate a robust recovery pattern:

Near-term growth: 8.4% CAGR through 2027 as the industry recaptures approximately two years of traffic lost during the pandemic

Long-term stability: 3.6% CAGR from 2027-2043 as global traffic reconnects with pre-COVID trends

This two-phase growth model reflects the industry's fundamental demand patterns and structural stability following significant disruption.

Global Aircraft Demand (2024-2043)

Sustained traffic growth and structural fleet renewal requirements are expected to drive substantial aircraft demand over the next two decades. Between 2024 and 2043, global airlines are projected to take delivery of approximately 42,430 new aircraft, reflecting a long-term response to both demand-side expansion and supply-side modernization efforts. This forecast represents one of the most critical key performance indicators (KPIs) for the broader aviation ecosystem, underpinning investment flows, infrastructure development, and training requirements—particularly for crew and maintenance personnel.

Source: Airbus GMF, Cirium Jan 24 Notes: Passenger aircraft (≥ 100 seats) & Freighters (≥ 10 tons payload) | Figures rounded to nearest 10

As of calendar year 2023, the global commercial fleet stood at 24,260 aircraft. By 2043, only 5,800 aircraft from this existing fleet are expected to remain in service, with the remainder undergoing retirement and replacement due to age, technological obsolescence, and evolving environmental standards. Consequently, more than 86% of the 2043 fleet will consist of new aircraft deliveries, signifying a fundamental transformation in global aviation assets.

Regional Distribution Analysis

Aircraft demand during this period is expected to be regionally diverse, with pronounced emphasis on emerging economies and liberalizing airspaces. The Asia-Pacific region (inclusive of India and Southeast Asia) is projected to lead the market with a cumulative demand of 9,990 aircraft (23.5% of global requirements), reflecting expanding middle-class populations, rapid urbanization, and investments in regional connectivity. China, viewed separately, accounts for 9,520 aircraft (22.4%), supported by robust domestic traffic volumes and state-led fleet expansion initiatives. Europe & CIS and North America remain mature but sizeable markets, together contributing 15,150 aircraft (35.7% of global demand), with Europe & CIS requiring 8,050 aircraft (19.0%) and North America requiring 7,100 aircraft (16.7%), primarily driven by replacement cycles and sustained connectivity requirements. The Middle East market is forecast to require 3,740 aircraft (8.8%), benefitting from strategic geographic hub positioning and aggressive fleet renewal by major carriers, while Latin America's demand of 2,570 aircraft (6.1%) is underpinned by increased low-cost carrier penetration and intra-regional liberalization. Africa represents 1,460 aircraft (3.4%), reflecting a nascent but structurally important growth curve supported by ongoing aviation infrastructure development and international carrier partnerships. This regional distribution highlights the global scope of opportunity for aviation industry participants, including training providers positioned to meet the corresponding demand for qualified personnel.

Correlation Between Rising Income Levels and Air Travel Demand

Air travel has historically demonstrated a strong positive correlation with rising income levels across geographies, particularly when benchmarked against gross domestic product (GDP) per capita at purchasing power parity (PPP) terms. As per data published by the International Air Transport Association (IATA), air transport demand tends to grow at a rate approximately 1.5 to 2 times that of GDP growth, underlining the income-elastic nature of the sector. Air travel is widely categorized as a superior good, wherein discretionary consumption patterns expand disproportionately with increases in disposable income.

Source: S&P Global, Sabre, Airbus GMF; *Europe is based on geographic definition

The quantum and frequency of air travel have shown marked escalation in economies witnessing sustained income growth and urban consumption. Mature markets such as the United States and countries within the European Union reflect this trajectory, with air travel penetration of 2.1 and 1.7 trips per capita respectively as of 2023. In contrast, large emerging economies such as India, South Africa, and Brazil recorded significantly lower penetration levels of 0.1, 0.3, and 0.4 trips per capita, respectively, during the same period. However, with a sustained increase in income levels and the consequent expansion of the addressable consumer base, a catch-up effect is anticipated in developing markets over the next two decades.

The air travel industry is structurally underpinned by a combination of macroeconomic and demographic factors including, inter alia, rising disposable incomes, expansion of the middle class, higher rates of urbanization, deepening globalization, increased cross-border mobility for education and employment, and a growing emphasis on experiential consumption such as tourism. According to estimates released by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), the global middle-class population is expected to expand from 3.6 billion individuals in 2020 to approximately 4.9 billion individuals by 2030, with a significant proportion of this growth emanating from Asia. Further, as per the World Bank, the share of the urban population in global demographics is projected to reach 68% by 2050, compared to approximately 56% in 2020. These secular tailwinds are expected to materially augment demand for air travel, particularly in economies transitioning from low- to middle-income status.

Additionally, the proliferation of low-cost carriers (LCCs), increased affordability of fares in real terms, and targeted investments in airport infrastructure have collectively contributed to enhancing air travel accessibility for first-time flyers in emerging markets. The Civil Aviation sector has also benefitted from structural shifts in global workforce mobility, international student migration, medical tourism, and the acceleration of remote and hybrid work arrangements post the COVID-19 pandemic, all of which are expected to continue as medium-to-long-term growth drivers for air travel.

India: A Structural Growth Opportunity

India represents one of the most underpenetrated yet high-potential markets for air travel globally. As per projections by the International Monetary Fund (IMF), India's GDP per capita in PPP terms is expected to grow from approximately $9,000 in 2023 to over $16,000 by 2043. Concurrently, India's air travel intensity, measured by the number of trips per capita, is projected to increase from 0.1 in 2023 to 0.4 by 2043. Notwithstanding the 4x increase in air travel penetration over this period, India's per capita travel intensity is expected to remain below other large emerging markets such as Brazil (1.0) and China (1.7), indicating significant headroom for future growth.

This anticipated growth trajectory is underpinned by a large and expanding consumer base. As per the NITI Aayog and various estimates published by the World Economic Forum (WEF), India is expected to house a middle-class population of approximately 700 million individuals by 2030, growing to over 1 billion individuals by 2045. Furthermore, with an estimated population of over 1.4 billion, even marginal increases in air travel penetration are expected to translate into substantial incremental demand.

The Government of India has undertaken targeted policy and infrastructural interventions to improve air travel accessibility, including the UDAN (Ude Desh ka Aam Nagrik) regional connectivity scheme, construction of greenfield airports, and modernisation of air traffic management systems. These interventions, coupled with private sector investments in fleet capacity, aircraft leasing, and digital ticketing infrastructure, are expected to support the sector's scale-up over the long term.

In view of the foregoing, India is well-positioned to transition from a nascent to an intermediate air travel market over the next two decades. Given the income-travel elasticity dynamics observed globally and the current underpenetrated status of the Indian aviation market, structural improvements in income levels are expected to remain a key demand driver for the domestic civil aviation sector.

Passenger Traffic Flow Trends and India's Emerging Strategic Position

The global aviation landscape is undergoing a structural reconfiguration, wherein emerging markets, particularly those in South Asia, are witnessing a significant realignment in traffic flows. While traditional aviation corridors—such as Intra-North America, Intra-Europe, and Intra-China—continue to lead in absolute passenger volume, recent forecasts indicate a marked shift in growth momentum towards the South Asian region, with India at the forefront of this transition.

Global Passenger Traffic Flow Ranking (South Asia – Inclusive India only)

Route	2014	2023	2033	2043
Middle East – South Asia	12	9	10	10
Intra South Asia	28	14	7	7
Europe – South Asia	31	31	34	32
Southeast Asia – South Asia	36	33	29	23

Source: Boeing Commercial Market Outlook 2024-2043

As per publicly available data, the Intra-South Asia passenger flow corridor is projected to ascend from the 28th position in 2014 to the 7th position by 2043, representing a movement of 21 places over a 30-year horizon. This transition is among the most significant rank advancements observed globally and is indicative of the region's underlying demographic strength, expanding middle class, increased affordability of air travel, and substantial infrastructure development across primary and secondary cities in India. The proliferation of regional airports under India's UDAN scheme, combined with increasing adoption of low-cost carriers and growing aviation liberalisation, has further accelerated domestic air travel demand.

Additionally, the Middle East–South Asia corridor, which has historically exhibited strong bilateral passenger movement due to economic migration and labour mobility, is expected to maintain its top 10 rank over the forecast period. This sustained prominence is reflective of robust origin–destination traffic between India and the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) countries, as well as the continued role of GCC hubs as international transit points for Indian outbound passengers.

The Southeast Asia–South Asia passenger corridor, while starting from a relatively lower base, is projected to improve its rank from 36th in 2014 to 23rd by 2043. This improvement is driven by enhanced tourism, business travel, and economic integration within the BIMSTEC region, wherein India plays a key role. The increasing prevalence of direct routes and liberalised bilateral air service agreements with ASEAN member states are expected to further support this growth trajectory.

In contrast, more established corridors such as Europe–South Asia have exhibited limited movement in flow rank, remaining relatively flat during the period under consideration. This indicates a maturing of traditional long-haul travel markets and highlights the relative outperformance of emerging, intra-regional and near-regional corridors linked to India.

These passenger flow shifts are aligned with broader demand-side projections, wherein South Asia is anticipated to register a compounded annual growth rate (CAGR) of 7.4% in air passenger traffic over the next two decades, the highest among all global regions. The correlation between flow rank improvements and projected CAGR reinforces the structural transition underway, wherein India is transitioning from being a regional participant to an increasingly pivotal node in global aviation networks.

Global Aviation Services

The global aviation services market is estimated to be valued at approximately $4.40 Trillion in 2024. Over the next two decades, the sector is expected to expand at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of approximately 4.30%, supported by the continued growth in commercial aircraft fleets, increasing passenger volumes, and the evolving digitalisation of aviation support infrastructure.

Global Services Demand: US$4,400 Billion (2024)

Source: Boeing Commercial Market Outlook 2024-2043

As of 2024, the demand for aviation services remains concentrated across North America and Eurasia, accounting for an estimated $995 Billion and $1,065 Billion, respectively. These regions benefit from a mature aviation ecosystem, comprising legacy carriers, large-scale fleet operators, and institutionalised service providers across the value chain. Over the long term, growth momentum is expected to shift towards emerging regions. South Asia and Southeast Asia are projected to register the highest growth rates globally, at CAGRs of approximately 7.80% and 7.10%, respectively, driven by structural increases in fleet capacity, domestic air travel penetration, and greater localisation of aviation support services. China is also expected to demonstrate sustained growth, supported by policy-led investments and a growing emphasis on domestic capabilities.

Global Services Average Annual Growth Rate until 2043

Source: Boeing Commercial Market Outlook 2024-2043

In contrast, the outlook for developed markets such as North America and Europe is relatively stable, with estimated CAGRs of 2.90% and 3.70%, respectively, reflecting the high base of existing infrastructure and more gradual fleet replacement cycles. Regions such as Africa and Latin America, while currently smaller in size, are expected to deliver mid-single digit growth rates, in line with long-term improvements in regional connectivity and fleet expansion.

The divergence between present-day demand concentration and projected growth rates suggests a gradual rebalancing of global aviation services demand, with emerging markets increasingly contributing to the sector's long-term expansion.

This segment encompasses critical aftermarket and auxiliary services that ensure sustained airworthiness, operational readiness, and workforce competence across commercial fleets globally. The broader aviation services sector is conventionally segmented into three key verticals:

Global Services Industry Verticals and Sub-Verticals Market Size, 2024 (In US$ Billions)

Source: Boeing Commercial Market Outlook 2024-2043

Maintenance, Repair & Overhaul (MRO) and Modifications: This encompasses airframe, engine, component, and line maintenance activities, as well as structural modifications and cabin refurbishments. It is capital- and infrastructure-intensive, often undertaken by specialized MRO providers or airline in-house divisions.

Digital Solutions & Analytics: Comprising software-based platforms, predictive analytics, operational optimization tools, and digital twins, this vertical is increasingly integrated across fleet management and scheduling, contributing to improved efficiency, cost control, and regulatory compliance.

Global Training & Pilot Services: Encompassing all forms of personnel training and associated hardware/software infrastructure, this vertical addresses the structural demand for skilled workforce development, driven by fleet expansion, regulatory standards, and attrition replacement. Within the Training & Pilot Services segment, further segmentation reveals three principal constituents:

Pilot Training: This sub-segment includes initial type ratings, recurrent simulator-based training, and regulatory certifications, administered through full-flight simulators (FFS), flight training devices (FTD), and instructor-led classroom instruction. The training is heavily regulated by authorities such as the FAA (USA), EASA (Europe), and DGCA (India), with strict adherence to operational procedures, aircraft-specific checklists, and emergency protocols.

Cabin Crew Training: Cabin crew training programs focus on safety, service, and emergency response procedures, with training modules structured around aircraft-specific configuration, passenger handling protocols, fire and smoke training, wet drills, and security measures. Training standards are defined by national aviation regulators in alignment with ICAO guidelines. Unlike pilot training, which is simulator-dominant and governed by high-fidelity technical instrumentation, cabin crew training emphasizes operational drill, roleplay, cabin mock ups, and human-centric instruction.

Other Training & Ancillary Services: This includes pilot sourcing solutions, simulator data services and software licensing, and specialized maintenance technician training. These services support the broader ecosystem by improving workforce readiness and enabling high availability of qualified personnel.

Cabin crew training represents a mandatory and recurring operational requirements for all scheduled commercial operators, charter services, and corporate fleets. Its growth is structurally tied to fleet inductions, airline route expansions, and the continuous evolution of safety and passenger service protocols.

While North America and Eurasia collectively account for nearly half of the $4.4 Trillion global aviation services demand in 2024, South Asia reflects one of the most rapidly expanding regional markets. The services demand originating from South Asia is estimated at approximately $175 Billion, driven by structural increases in air traffic, consistent fleet additions, and progressive regulatory alignment with international aviation standards.

South Asia Industry Verticals and Sub-Verticals Market Size, 2024 (In US$ Billions)

Source: Boeing Commercial Market Outlook 2024-2043

Within the $175 Billion demand base, Maintenance, Repair, and Overhaul (MRO) and modification services account for $110 Billion, followed by Digital Solutions and Analytics at $55 Billion. Training and Pilot Services form the remaining $10 Billion, representing a critical support vertical tied to human capital development in the regional aviation ecosystem.

A further breakdown of the $10 Billion training and pilot services segment reveals that pilot training constitutes the largest sub-component, valued at $7.60 Billion. Ancillary categories comprising simulator hardware and data services, pilot sourcing, and maintenance personnel training, contribute an additional $1.50 Billion in estimated demand.

Cabin crew training is valued at approximately $0.90 Billion. Training in this segment is defined by short-cycle, recurrent modules based on standardised regulatory curriculum, safety procedures, and aircraft configuration protocols. Unlike pilot training, the cabin crew vertical is less dependent on capital assets such as full-flight simulators and more focused on curriculum execution, procedural drills, and throughput scalability in line with airline expansion.

3. Cabin Crew Training – A Regulation-Bound Pillar of Aviation Workforce Supply

Cabin crew training is expected to remain a recurring and capacity-linked requirement across both full-service and low-cost carriers.

Personnel Demand by Type

Cabin Crew Demand

Source: Boeing Commercial Market Outlook 2024-2043

As of FY 2022–23, the Indian aviation sector employed approximately 72,961 personnel across operational and service roles. Of this, cabin crew accounted for ~27% of the total workforce i.e. 19,677 individuals deployed across scheduled airlines operating within the country. Notably, the cabin crew function is predominantly female, with women comprising approximately 86% of the segment's workforce; a proportion significantly higher than that observed in other verticals of the aviation industry, which remain male-dominated.

Cabin crew employment across Indian airlines for FY 2022–23 reflects operational scale and market share, with IndiGo leading at 8,567 personnel; consistent with its ~62% domestic market dominance. Air India, undergoing strategic transformation, follows with 5,825 crew. Vistara and Air India Express also feature prominently, aligned with their growing route networks. Emerging carriers like Akasa Air and regional operators such as Flybig have smaller footprints, indicative of early-stage operations.

3.1 Role Definition and Skill Matrix for Cabin Crew Professionals

The role of an air cabin crew member is internationally recognised as a safety-critical function, combining procedural, technical, and interpersonal responsibilities that directly affect passenger well-being and aircraft operations. Civil aviation authorities across jurisdictions including the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO), the European Union Aviation Safety Agency (EASA), the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) in the United States, and the International Air Transport Association (IATA) have developed harmonised standards for cabin crew duties and associated training frameworks. These are operationalised through operator-specific training modules and national licensing requirements.

The matrix below outlines the primary responsibilities of cabin crew personnels and the key competencies required to perform them. This framework reflects the core structure adopted by leading international airlines and aviation training providers and is broadly aligned with ICAO's Cabin Crew Safety Training Manual (Doc 10002) and EASA AMC1 and GM1 to Part-CC.

Role Category	Functional Description	Core Competencies / Skills
Pre-Flight Safety Checks	Verifying emergency equipment, galley readiness, oxygen supply, and exit door arming before boarding.	Familiarity with emergency systems, procedural compliance, attention to detail.

This role-competency framework is embedded in standardised training programs operated by airlines such as Singapore Airlines, Lufthansa Aviation Training, Emirates, and global simulation providers like CAE and FlightSafety International.⁸ These programs align closely with the ICAO competency-based training model and recurrent assessment protocols defined by most national regulators. Furthermore, Cabin crew training requirements are not discretionary and are generally mandated across regional regulations.

3.2 Regulatory Landscape Governing Cabin Crew Training: International and Indian Applicability

The air cabin crew function is globally recognised as a safety-sensitive role governed by prescriptive training and licensing requirements. All training programs for cabin crew are subject to regulatory oversight by national civil aviation authorities, operating in alignment with standards prescribed by the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO). While ICAO establishes a common global baseline through its Annexes and training manuals, jurisdictional implementation is delegated to local authorities such as the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) in the United States, the European Union Aviation Safety Agency (EASA), and the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) in India.

International Standards: ICAO as the Global Framework

The International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO), a specialised agency of the United Nations, issues recommended standards and practices (SARPs) for civil aviation operations through its Annexes to the Convention on International Civil Aviation (Chicago Convention, 1944). ICAO does not enforce licensing or training directly but requires signatory states to incorporate these SARPs into national aviation law. For cabin crew training, the primary reference documents are:

- ICAO Annex 6, Part I – Operation of Aircraft: International Commercial Air Transport – Aeroplanes
- ICAO Doc 10002 – Cabin Crew Safety Training Manual

These documents define minimum requirements relating to safety procedures, emergency response, recurrent training intervals, and competencies necessary to perform cabin crew duties.

Regulatory Implementation by National Authorities

1. Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) – United States

The FAA regulates all cabin crew training for U.S.-registered airlines under 14 CFR Part 121.417. FAA guidance is detailed and prescriptive, mandating approved training programs, qualified instructors, periodic evaluations, and simulator usage for safety drills. FAA-certified training programs are widely regarded as industry benchmarks, and FAA licenses are accepted or convertible in multiple jurisdictions.

2. European Union Aviation Safety Agency (EASA)

EASA governs aviation regulation across EU member states and affiliated regions under Regulation (EU) 1178/2011. Cabin crew training is structured under Part-CC (Cabin Crew) and Part-ORO (Organisation Requirements). Training providers must be certified as Approved Training Organisations (ATOs), and crew members undergo mandatory initial, recurrent, and type-specific training as prescribed in Acceptable Means of Compliance (AMC) and Guidance Material (GM) to Part-CC. EASA licenses are generally portable within Europe and are often recognised by carriers in Africa, the Middle East, and parts of Asia.

3. Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) – India

Cabin crew training and certification in India are governed by the DGCA under Civil Aviation Requirement (CAR) Section 7 – Series M, Part I. The regulation mandates that all Indian air operators and training organisations offer DGCA-approved training programs conducted by certified instructors. The CAR outlines course content, infrastructure norms, assessment methods, licensing validity, and medical requirements. DGCA approvals are necessary for cabin crew to operate on Indian-registered aircraft and for Indian airlines to retain their Air Operator Certificate (AOC).

Comparative Recognition and Mobility of Cabin Crew Licenses

While ICAO ensures minimum harmonisation, cabin crew licenses and training certificates are not globally interchangeable. Instead, they are jurisdiction-specific and recognised primarily within the scope of the issuing authority. In practical terms:

- FAA and EASA certifications are considered the most widely portable, due to the global footprint of U.S. and EU-based carriers, and the maturity of their regulatory regimes.
- DGCA-issued certifications are valid for Indian carriers, but do not automatically qualify cabin crew to serve on foreign-registered airlines without undergoing conversion or retraining.
- Cross-border employment of cabin crew typically requires validation or supplementary training, especially when transferring between jurisdictions such as India to Europe or the U.S.

Regulatory Body	Jurisdictional Scope	Global Training Recognition	Remarks
ICAO	Global (UN member states)	Foundational only (not a license issuer)	Forms basis for all national regulations; not directly enforceable
FAA	United States (Part 121 operators)	High	Requires retraining for foreign license holders
EASA	European Union and affiliated states	High	Offers ATO-based certification; partial recognition elsewhere
DGCA	India	Moderate (regional recognition)	ICAO-aligned but not directly recognized by FAA/EASA without conversion

Cabin crew training remains a mandatory and jurisdiction-specific regulatory requirement, structured around ICAO-prescribed standards but enforced by national aviation authorities. For Indian training institutions, compliance with DGCA's CAR provisions is legally binding and sufficient for employment with Indian operators. However, international mobility of Indian-trained cabin crew remains contingent on additional training or conversion, especially in jurisdictions governed by FAA or EASA, whose frameworks are considered the global benchmarks for operational certification.

3.3 DGCA-Mandated Cabin Crew Training Modules and Recurrent Requirements

As per the Civil Aviation Requirements (CAR) issued by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA), cabin crew members operating on Indian-registered aircraft are required to undergo a structured training regime comprising both initial and recurrent training. These programs are designed to ensure operational readiness, compliance with safety standards, and preparedness for emergency and in-flight scenarios. The training modules are tightly aligned with guidelines set forth in ICAO Annex 6, Part I, and ICAO Cabin Crew Safety Training Manual (Doc 10002), and are enforced through the DGCA CAR Section 7, Series M, Part I. Cabin crew must undergo initial training prior to deployment, conversion training when changing aircraft types, and recurrent training at intervals stipulated by the DGCA. Additionally, operators must maintain comprehensive training records and ensure periodic performance evaluations, as mandated under Rule 38B of the Aircraft Rules, 1937.

3.4 Cabin Crew Training Institute Ecosystem in India

Cabin Crew training constitutes a critical and regulatorily mandated subsegment of a multi-layered institutional ecosystem for aircrew training. As per norms stipulated by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA), air operators are required to deploy certified and adequately trained cabin crew on board all passenger aircraft, thereby creating a non-discretionary demand cycle for compliant training infrastructure.

The Indian training ecosystem supporting this demand may be bifurcated into two primary institutional archetypes:

(i) airline-owned training centres, and (ii) independent third-party training organizations. While the former are vertically integrated into airline operations and cater to fleet-specific training aligned to internal standard operating procedures (SOPs), the latter constitute a broader and commercially driven segment, catering to aspiring cabin crew seeking market-ready certification for employment across domestic and regional carriers.

India's cabin crew training ecosystem is supported by a network of 223 active training centres distributed across urban and semi-urban geographies. These centres are operated by a total of 106 institutions, comprising 101 privately-owned entities and 05 government-run establishments. Several of these institutions maintain multiple branches, often across different cities, to meet the rising demand for aviation personnel training and to enhance accessibility for aspirants across regions.

A city-wise analysis indicates a concentration in leading metropolitan clusters, with 141 centres across key metro cities collectively accounting for a significant share of the national training infrastructure. The remaining 82 centres are distributed across other cities and towns, reflecting the increasing penetration of aviation training services into Tier II and Tier III locations.

3.5 Infrastructure, Trainer Qualifications, Certification, and Examination Guidelines

The regulatory framework governing cabin crew training in India is defined by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA), which establishes standards for infrastructure, trainer qualifications, and certification processes to ensure the competency and safety of cabin crew members. These guidelines align with international aviation norms and are designed to prepare candidates for the operational demands of the aviation industry.

1. Infrastructure Requirements:

Classroom Facilities: Institutes must provide adequately sized classrooms equipped with modern educational tools such as projectors, computers, and audiovisual systems to support theoretical modules in cabin safety, emergency procedures, and passenger handling.

Aircraft Cabin Simulation: A mock-up of an aircraft cabin, including seats, aisles, overhead bins, emergency exits, and other essential elements, is mandatory. This facilitates practical training in cabin preparation, safety drills, and emergency evacuation procedures.

Safety and Emergency Equipment: Training institutes must provide emergency equipment, including fire extinguishers, first-aid kits, oxygen masks, and other safety devices, necessary for training on in-flight emergencies and safety protocols.

Fire Safety and Evacuation Simulators: A fire safety training system is required to simulate realistic in-flight fire drills and evacuation scenarios.

Health and First Aid Facilities: Dedicated spaces for health and first aid training are mandatory, ensuring cabin crew candidates receive comprehensive medical emergency response training. These infrastructure requirements are detailed in DGCA CAR Section 3 - Series B and must be maintained to remain compliant with DGCA certification.

2. Trainer Qualifications:

Instructor Certification: Trainers must hold DGCA-approved certifications. These certifications are granted following an assessment of their qualifications, experience, and ability to deliver aviation training.

Experience Requirements: Instructors must have at least five years of industry experience in roles such as cabin crew, safety officers, or training supervisors, ensuring they possess practical, hands-on knowledge relevant to the training program. This is mandated under DGCA CAR Section 3 - Series B.

Ongoing Professional Development: Trainers must undergo continuous professional development to stay current with changes in aviation safety protocols, training techniques, and regulatory requirements.

3. Certification and Examination Guidelines:

DGCA Certification of Training Institutes: Institutes must obtain DGCA approval, demonstrating compliance with infrastructure, curriculum, and trainer qualification standards. This certification is subject to periodic renewal and DGCA inspections.

Curriculum Approval: Training programs must align with DGCA-approved curricula, covering essential subjects like cabin safety, emergency protocols, first aid, and passenger service. The curriculum is structured to comply with ICAO and IATA standards and must be reviewed and approved by the DGCA.

Examinations: After completing the training program, candidates must pass both theoretical and practical exams

- Theoretical Examination: Written assessments test knowledge of aviation regulations, safety procedures, and first aid.
- Practical Examination: Candidates must demonstrate their ability to handle emergency drills, administer first aid, and manage cabin safety in a mock aircraft cabin.

Certification: Successful candidates receive a DGCA-approved Cabin Crew License, which is required for employment as a cabin crew member in India. The license is valid for a specified period, after which re-certification is required.

Re-Certification and Continuous Education: Cabin crew members must undergo annual re-certification, which includes refresher training on safety procedures and emergency response. This ensures they maintain the competency required to operate safely and effectively.

4. Pilot Training – A Skill Critical, Regulated, and Capacity-Defining Engine of Aviation

Each commercial aircraft requires a minimum of two certified pilots per flight i.e. a Captain and a First Officer; with additional crew mandated for longer-haul or high-frequency operations. As global fleet size expands in line with projected air traffic growth, the demand for technically proficient, regulatorily compliant, and globally employable pilots is expected to remain robust over the long term.

Source: Boeing Commercial Market Outlook 2024-2043

Out of the 72,961 personnels employed across operational roles in the Indian aviation sector as of FY 2022-23, approximately 9,390 are pilots and co-pilots. This function is predominantly male with >85% of the employed pilots being males.

Pilot employment across Indian carriers in FY 2022–23 closely mirrors each airline’s fleet size, network complexity, and operational frequency. IndiGo, India’s largest airline by market share, leads with 4,407 pilots, reflecting its expansive domestic and regional footprint. Air India, amid fleet modernization and global expansion, employs 1,845 pilots, while its full-service subsidiary Vistara maintains a strong complement of 815. Low-cost carriers like SpiceJet (733) and Air India Express (444) continue to operate with leaner rosters, calibrated to route structure and aircraft utilization. New entrants such as Akasa Air (311 pilots) have scaled quickly in line with aggressive fleet induction, while regional and cargo operators including Alliance Air (216), Blue Dart (79), and IndiaOne Air (15) maintain smaller pools aligned with their limited but essential service offerings.

4.2 Regulatory Landscape Governing Pilot Training: International and Indian Applicability

The pilot profession is highly regulated, with training and licensing requirements governed by national aviation authorities in alignment with international standards prescribed by the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO). While ICAO establishes a common global framework for aviation safety, training, and licensing, the implementation of these standards is carried out by local aviation authorities such as the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) in the United States, the European Union Aviation Safety Agency (EASA), and the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) in India.

International Standards: ICAO as the Global Framework

The International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO), a specialized agency of the United Nations, develops and prescribes international standards and recommended practices (SARPs) through its Annexes to the Convention on International Civil Aviation (Chicago Convention, 1944). ICAO's role is to set the foundation for training and licensing frameworks, but enforcement is the responsibility of national civil aviation authorities. The primary reference documents for pilot training are:

- ICAO Annex 1 – Personnel Licensing
- ICAO Doc 9868 – Procedures for Air Navigation Services: Training (PANS-TRG)

These documents define minimum requirements for pilot qualifications, training syllabus, recurrent training intervals, and the competencies necessary for pilots to operate aircraft safely.

Regulatory Implementation by National Authorities

1. Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) – United States

The FAA regulates pilot training and licensing under 14 CFR Part 61 and Part 121 for commercial airline operations. Training programs for pilots are highly prescriptive, mandating flight hours, instructional qualifications, and recurrent evaluations. The FAA's certification process, including the Airline Transport Pilot (ATP) license, is widely respected and often recognized internationally.

2. European Union Aviation Safety Agency (EASA)

EASA oversees pilot training across EU member states and affiliated regions under Regulation (EU) No. 1178/2011. The regulation governs flight crew licensing under Part-FCL (Flight Crew Licensing) and stipulates training requirements for both commercial and private pilots. EASA also defines the criteria for training organisations (ATO) and provides Acceptable Means of Compliance (AMC) and Guidance Material (GM) to ensure safety and competency in pilot training programs. EASA licenses are generally accepted within the European Union and are often recognized by carriers in other regions.

3. Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) – India

In India, pilot training is governed by the DGCA, which issues guidelines under Civil Aviation Requirements (CAR), Section 7 – Series F for flight crew licensing. These regulations cover the eligibility criteria, training syllabus, and medical standards required for obtaining Indian pilot licenses, including the Commercial Pilot License (CPL) and Airline Transport Pilot License (ATPL). The DGCA also mandates that all training organizations are approved by the authority and that pilots undergo recurrent training at prescribed intervals. DGCA certifications are required for pilots to operate on Indian-registered aircraft, and Indian airlines are subject to DGCA's regulations to retain their Air Operator Certificate (AOC).

The recognition and mobility of pilot licenses across jurisdictions follow similar patterns to those of cabin crew training certifications. Just as FAA and EASA licenses for cabin crew are widely portable, pilot licenses issued by these authorities are also recognized globally, with similar requirements for retraining or conversion when moving between jurisdictions like India, the U.S., and Europe. For DGCA-issued pilot licenses, similar to cabin crew, international mobility may require additional training or certification validation in certain regions.

4.3 DGCA-Mandated Pilot Training Modules and Recurrent Requirements

As per the Civil Aviation Requirements (CAR) issued by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA), pilots operating on Indian-registered aircraft are required to undergo a structured training regime that includes initial training, type ratings, and recurrent training. These programs are designed to ensure that pilots meet safety standards, maintain operational readiness, and are equipped to handle both routine and emergency in-flight scenarios. The training modules are aligned with the guidelines set forth in ICAO Annex 1 and ICAO Doc 9868, and enforced through the DGCA CAR Section 7, Series F, Part I. Pilots must undergo initial training, conversion training when changing aircraft types, and recurrent training at intervals specified by the DGCA. Operators are also required to maintain detailed records of pilot training and ensure periodic performance evaluations.

Training Module	Scope	Recurrent Interval
Initial Pilot Training	Basic aviation theory, flight operations, air law, meteorology, navigation, aircraft systems, flight planning, and flight procedures.	Once during initial training.

4.4. Pilot Training Ecosystem in India

Pilot training is governed by a structured regulatory framework designed to produce qualified, skilled professionals capable of operating aircraft safely and efficiently. As per the regulations of the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA), airlines and training institutes are required to ensure that pilots undergo rigorous training programs to meet both national and international standards, ensuring safety, operational excellence, and adherence to aviation protocols.

India's pilot training ecosystem comprises two primary institutional archetypes: (i) Airline-owned Training Centres and (ii) Independent Flying Schools. Airline-owned centres, often referred to as In-house Training Facilities, cater specifically to pilots employed by the airline. These centres offer specialized training, including type-rating courses and recurrent training aligned with the airline's specific fleet requirements and operational standards. Independent flying schools, on the other hand, provide general aviation training and issue foundational licenses such as Private Pilot License (PPL), Commercial Pilot License (CPL), and Airline Transport Pilot License (ATPL).

As on 21st April 2025, there are 38 Flying Training Organizations (FTOs) operating at 57 bases as approved by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA). DGCA approves FTOs as per laid down rules and regulations. DGCA does not regulate the financial aspects of obtaining CPLs by students from FTOs. The cost of training for obtaining Commercial Pilot License (CPL) is determined by the FTOs.

4.5 Capital-Intensive Nature of Pilot Training Infrastructure

The operational framework of pilot training schools is inherently capital-intensive, requiring significant upfront investment in infrastructure, including aircraft fleets, flight simulators, and specialized facilities. These investments are crucial for ensuring high-quality training programs that adhere to national and international aviation regulations, while also meeting the ever-growing demand for qualified pilots.

Aircraft Fleet Investment

The fleet of training aircraft is one of the largest capital expenditure components for pilot training schools. Aircraft can cost anywhere from ₹50 lakhs for small, single-engine trainers to upwards of ₹3 crore for advanced, multi-engine aircraft suited for commercial pilot training. The fleet size depends on the scale of operations and the number of students enrolled in various training programs. Typically, schools operate a fleet of 5–30 aircraft, which are often required to meet peak student training schedules.

The investment in a fleet is further compounded by ongoing maintenance costs, including engine overhauls, airframe checks, insurance, and regulatory certifications. Schools must also account for aircraft depreciation, which typically occurs over a 10–15 years lifespan, reducing the residual value of these assets.

Simulator Technology Investment

Alongside physical aircraft, flight simulators represent a substantial portion of the capital expenditures in pilot training schools. Depending on the type, flight simulators can cost anywhere from ₹1 crore for smaller flight training devices (FTDs) to ₹20 crore or more for full-flight simulators (FFS) that replicate the cockpit environment of specific commercial aircraft models. The importance of simulators in pilot training has increased significantly, as they provide a cost-effective means of replicating high-risk situations such as adverse weather, mechanical failure, or emergency procedures without the associated costs and risks of real-flight training.

Leading companies like CAE, L3Harris Technologies, and FlightSafety International offer state-of-the-art simulators that are integrated with advanced technologies, including high-fidelity visual systems, motion platforms, and real-time weather modelling. These systems ensure that training schools provide realistic, immersive experiences for pilots, which are critical for effective learning.

Moreover, simulators have a significant role in maintaining operational efficiency. Schools can optimize simulator usage by scheduling multiple training sessions per day, ensuring that their fleets of simulators generate consistent revenue without the per-hour operational costs of flying aircraft. However, simulators also require regular maintenance, software updates, and periodic upgrades to stay aligned with the latest aircraft models and regulatory requirements.

Other Infrastructure Investments

In addition to aircraft and simulators, pilot training schools must invest in several other key facilities to ensure comprehensive and effective training. These include:

1. Classroom Facilities – Modern educational tools such as projectors, computers, and audiovisual systems to support theoretical learning in subjects like aviation regulations, meteorology, and flight planning.
2. Training Aids and Safety Equipment – Essential for emergency procedure training, including fire safety simulators, first-aid kits, and emergency evacuation slides.
3. Ground Support Equipment (GSE) – Infrastructure for fuelling, maintenance, and storage of training aircraft.
4. Health and First Aid Facilities – Dedicated areas for practical medical emergency response training.

While these assets come with high initial costs, they are crucial for maintaining high standards of training and operational readiness.

5. Drone Training: Shaping the Future of Aerial Operations and Industry Competence

A drone, or Remotely Piloted Aircraft System (RPAS), is an unmanned aerial vehicle (UAV) that operates through remote control or autonomous navigation, equipped with advanced technologies such as sensors, cameras, and GPS systems. These versatile systems have found broad application across a wide range of commercial sectors. Key use cases for drones include aerial photography and videography, agricultural applications such as crop monitoring and pesticide spraying, surveying and mapping, infrastructure inspection (e.g., for bridges and power lines), logistics and delivery services, as well as environmental and wildlife monitoring. The commercial drone market in India is witnessing substantial growth, with projections indicating that the sector could reach a market size of approximately ₹9,000 crore (approximately US$ 1.1 billion) by 2025. This growth is driven by increasing demand across industries such as agriculture, logistics, and infrastructure, where drones offer enhanced operational efficiency, cost reduction, and access to otherwise challenging environment.

5.1 Regulatory Landscape for Drone Operations in India: Compliance, Requirements, and Industry Guidelines

The operation of drones in India is governed by a structured regulatory framework aimed at ensuring safety, security, and operational efficiency within the country's airspace. This framework, overseen by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA), outlines comprehensive guidelines for both commercial and non-commercial drone operations. The objective is to facilitate the safe integration of drones into the airspace, thereby supporting the growing demand for drone services across various sectors including agriculture, logistics, infrastructure, and media.

1. Regulatory Authority: Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA)

The DGCA, as India's national aviation regulatory authority, plays a critical role in overseeing drone operations. Under its Civil Aviation Requirements (CAR) Section 3 – Series X, the DGCA provides a detailed framework for both recreational and commercial drone activities. These regulations aim to ensure safe and efficient integration of drones into Indian airspace while balancing the interests of innovation and safety. The regulations are also designed to address concerns related to air traffic management, airspace congestion, and operational safety in increasingly crowded skies.

2. Licensing and Registration Requirements

In India, drones must be registered and certified by the DGCA to operate legally. This registration process is facilitated through the Digital Sky platform, which is designed to streamline and centralize drone operations in the country. Drones weighing more than 250 grams are required to be registered with the DGCA, and all operators must obtain an Unmanned Aircraft Systems (UAS) Operator Permit (UOP) to conduct commercial operations.

For remote pilots, the DGCA mandates the issuance of Remote Pilot Licenses (RPL), which are awarded after the successful completion of DGCA-approved training programs. These programs cover crucial aspects of flight safety, airspace management, and emergency protocols, ensuring that remote pilots are equipped to operate drones safely and efficiently within India's regulated airspace.

3. Operational Guidelines and Airspace Management

India's airspace is divided into various zones with specific operational guidelines designed to manage drone activities effectively:

- Green Zone: No prior permission is required for drone operations, typically for activities up to 200 feet in uncontrolled airspace.
- Yellow Zone: Permission is required for operations within controlled airspace up to 200 feet.
- Red Zone: Operations are prohibited in these zones, which generally include areas around airports, military bases, and other critical infrastructure.
- Orange Zone: Temporary operational zones where drones can be flown under specific conditions, usually for special events or emergency situations.

Drone operators must navigate these airspace zones carefully, using geofencing technology to ensure drones do not enter restricted or sensitive areas. The integration of geospatial awareness systems is mandatory for real-time monitoring and compliance with airspace restrictions, particularly near airports and other high-security zones.

4. Drone Safety Standards and Risk Mitigation

The DGCA has established stringent safety standards for drone operations, including pre-flight checks, maintenance protocols, and emergency procedures. Drones must be equipped with tracking systems that provide real-time data on location and altitude, which can be accessed by authorities to ensure compliance. Furthermore, operators must assess environmental factors such as weather conditions, wind speeds, and visibility before initiating flights, ensuring the safety of operations under varying conditions.

The DGCA has also set limits on drone size, weight, and payload to mitigate the risks of accidents and maintain safety in congested airspace. These operational constraints are in place to ensure that drones are operated within safe parameters and do not pose a risk to other aircraft or persons on the ground.

5.2 Drone Training Ecosystem in India

India's drone training ecosystem has evolved into a structured and strategically important sub-sector of the country's broader skilling and aviation landscape. In recent years, significant policy thrust, private investment, and technological democratization have accelerated the pace of institutional development in this domain. The ecosystem today comprises a growing network of certified training organizations that are equipping a new generation of drone operators with the skills required to meet both domestic and global demand across sectors such as agriculture, infrastructure, logistics, mining, and public safety.

As of late 2024, over 150 drone training organizations are operational in India, representing a near doubling in footprint compared to the previous year. This rapid expansion reflects the increasing recognition of drones as a productivity-enhancing tool, particularly in rural and underserved areas. Flagship training institutions include advanced academic-industry collaborations and specialized private sector ventures, with prominent entities offering structured programs that are aligned with the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) curriculum and compliant with India's civil aviation requirements.

The trained workforce emerging from this ecosystem is growing in parallel. As of December 2024, the number of certified remote pilots crossed 21,000, up from fewer than 9,000 a year earlier. The momentum is backed by both grassroots programs and national skilling initiatives. The government's concerted effort to integrate drone usage in rural development, including targeted schemes for training women in agri-drone operations, has contributed to a more inclusive and geographically diversified base of trained professionals. Entry-level remuneration for certified drone pilots has stabilized at levels attractive enough to encourage youth retention, particularly in Tier II and Tier III geographies.

India's ambition to become a global hub for drone production and services is expected to generate demand for over 100,000 trained drone operators by the end of the decade. This is underpinned by the proliferation of drone-as-a-service (DaaS) business models that reduce the capital intensity for end users while expanding the application base. Simultaneously, the training infrastructure has demonstrated scalability. A typical DGCA-authorized training centre can be operationalized with relatively lean physical and technological infrastructure—typically requiring a minimum of two qualified instructors, two drones for practical sessions, and an area of approximately two acres. These centres are being established in diverse geographies, from metro cities to emerging regional hubs.

Collaborations among academia, government bodies, and private players are further institutionalizing the ecosystem. Several Indian Institutes of Technology (IITs) and technical universities have launched joint certification programs, while leading drone manufacturers are investing in in-house training capacities to ensure standardization and alignment with operational best practices.

Looking ahead, the drone training sector is poised to play a critical role in realizing India's vision of self-reliance in advanced technologies. As the policy environment continues to evolve in favour of indigenous manufacturing and digital skilling, drone training institutes stand to benefit from strong tailwinds that include increasing public sector procurement, expanding agricultural mechanization, and integration of drones in disaster management, urban planning, and smart city frameworks.

OVERVIEW OF OUR BUSINESS

We are engaged in providing Safety and Emergency Procedures (SEP) infrastructure facilities for aviation training, with a core focus on safety and emergency procedure (SEP) training for cabin and cockpit crew. Headquartered in Gurgaon, we offer a comprehensive portfolio of training modules designed to align with industry standards and regulatory expectations for airline personnel.

Our business model is primarily Business-to-Business (B2B), catering to a distinguished clientele comprising A-rated domestic scheduled airlines, select Indian non-scheduled operators, and regional international carriers. In addition, we operate a limited Business-to-Customer (B2C) vertical under which we offer training programs aimed at enhancing operational and interpersonal skills relevant to the aviation and hospitality industries.

Our core competency lies in the delivery of Safety and Emergency Procedures (SEP) training, covering critical areas such as door operations, emergency evacuation, in-flight firefighting, and ditching drills. In addition to our core SEP training, we also offer a broader portfolio of operational and service-oriented training modules primarily under our B2C vertical. These include in generic aviation knowledge, in-flight services, basic first aid, inter-departmental coordination, passenger handling, grooming and personal presentation standards, personality development, as well as voice and accent refinement.

Our training programs are designed to assist client airlines in maintaining high standards of safety, service delivery, and operational preparedness. We believe that the efficacy of aviation training depends significantly on robust infrastructure, experienced faculty, and continuous engagement with domain professionals from the aviation sector.

Over the past three financial years, we have delivered more than 20,000 individual training modules for aviation professionals through our specialized training infrastructure.

The Company has provided consultancy services related to content development for Aviation Training Software and the creation of e-learning modules for training purposes. Since this income arises from activities that are non-recurring and not part of the Company’s core operations, it has been classified as Other Income under Non-operating Income.

Flywings Simulator Training Centre Limited (FWSTC) was established to address the industry-wide gap in Safety and Emergency Procedures (SEP) training for airline personnel, particularly within the Indian civil aviation sector. Our facility is strategically located in Gurugram, in proximity to the corporate offices of several major domestic airlines, enabling ease of access for clients and efficient delivery of training services. As India’s civil aviation market continues to expand; reflected in sustained growth in passenger traffic and aircraft inductions; the demand for trained cabin crew and operational personnel is expected to rise correspondingly. We aim to support this expansion by contributing to the professional readiness of the aviation workforce through structured and industry-aligned training programs.

The composition of our revenue across the B2B and B2C verticals is as follows:

BUSINESS MODEL

In 2013 and 2014, the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) conducted a comprehensive audit of India's aviation ecosystem, revealing critical gaps in the country's training infrastructure. The outcome of this audit led to the temporary downgrading of India's aviation training capability. In response to this systemic challenge and in recognition of the urgent industry need for high-quality training facilities for both flight and cabin crew; Flywings was established in 2011. Since inception, the company has grown to become a known aviation training provider, playing a pivotal role in addressing the capacity deficit while elevating training standards across the industry.

Our primary revenue is generated through Business-to-Business (B2B) arrangements with commercial airlines, non-scheduled operators, and aviation service providers that engage us for specialised Safety and Emergency Procedures (SEP) training, delivered using industry-grade simulators. In parallel, we operate a Business-to-Customer (B2C) segment offering structured training programs for individuals seeking employment in the aviation and hospitality sectors. These programs are aligned with evolving industry requirements and are delivered by qualified trainers.

Our Training Centre operates independently of direct approval from the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA), as there is currently no Civil Aviation Requirement (CAR) applicable to standalone training facilities of this nature. Airline operators obtain requisite DGCA approvals to conduct training at our premises, thereby utilising our infrastructure. This model enables us to maintain operational flexibility while supporting the certified training needs of client airlines.

In addition to simulator infrastructure, we have established DGCA-approved classrooms for the conduct of theoretical training. Trainers appointed by visiting airlines utilise these facilities to deliver classroom instruction to aviation personnel.

We currently have active arrangements with leading airline operators. These agreements define the scope of training drills, applicable pricing, and contractual terms, typically renewed for durations ranging from three to five years. In addition, we have provided services to, or are in the process of formalising arrangements with, other scheduled and non-scheduled airlines operator segments.

We have extended our presence into the education sector through partnerships with academic institutions such as Galgotias University and Chandigarh University. As part of these collaborations, student groups undertake site visits to our facility, where theoretical sessions are conducted using our classroom infrastructure. These initiatives are aimed at aligning academic curricula with practical industry requirements.

OUR SERVICES

I. Training Infrastructure Services – Business-to-Business (B2B)

We provide simulator-based infrastructure and supervisory support services to airline operators for the conduct of Safety and Emergency Procedures (SEP) training for cabin and cockpit crew. Our role is limited to the provision and maintenance of simulation equipment and facilities and does not extend to the delivery or certification of training content.

Pursuant to the Civil Aviation Requirements (CAR), Section 7 – Training and Licensing, Series M, Part I, issued by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA), all airline operators are required to develop and maintain a DGCA-approved training program for their cabin crew. These programs must include initial, type-specific, recurrent, and practical training, including modules on water survival, fire and smoke drills, emergency exit drills, and SEP proficiency.

As mandated in Clause 6.1 and 6.5–6.6 of CAR, training must be conducted using representative devices and safety equipment that closely simulate the actual aircraft environment.

Under the provisions of Clause 6.8 of the CAR, an operator is permitted to use third-party training infrastructure for conducting such modules, provided that:

- The training remains within the scope of the operator's DGCA-approved training program.
- The facility is internally audited by the airline operator to verify its suitability, safety, and equipment alignment.
- The training follows the procedures and standards set forth in the operator's Operations Manual (Part D) and the accompanying Cabin Crew Training Manual.

Flywings' role is strictly limited to:

- Provisioning of compliant and operationally reliable SEP training infrastructure.
- Maintenance of equipment such as mock-ups, emergency exit trainers, door trainers, fire and smoke simulators, and water survival setups in accordance with operator requirements.
- On-site technical support and supervisory facilitation to ensure uninterrupted training sessions.

Flywings is not independently certified or approved by the DGCA to conduct SEP training. Instead, its infrastructure is evaluated and utilized under the authority of the airline operator, whose approved training program is audited and accepted by DGCA. This model ensures that regulatory compliance, instructional delivery, and training outcome responsibility remain solely with the airline operator, while Flywings functions as a specialized infrastructure enabler within the approved framework.

II. Training Services – Business-to-Customer (B2C)

We offer structured training programs targeted at individuals, focused on imparting essential technical, interpersonal, and soft skills necessary to enhance employment prospects, primarily within the aviation sector, with applicability to the hospitality sector. These programs constitute vocational courses aimed at practical skill development and are not formal certifications. Successful completion enables candidates to demonstrate relevant training experience as a qualifying prerequisite in recruitment processes within these industries.

Candidates are trained by qualified professionals in core skill areas relevant to both in-flight and ground-based roles. Training in Safety and Emergency Procedures (SEP), a key component of in-flight competencies, is conducted using simulator infrastructure that also supports B2B training requirements. Our training programs cover the following core areas of skill development:

A. Cabin Crew Training (In-Flight Skills)

Our Company is actively engaged in providing comprehensive cabin crew training programmes in accordance with the Civil Aviation Requirements (CAR) Section 7 – Training and Licensing, ICAO Annex 6, and Rule 38(b) of the Aircraft Rules. These regulations mandate that every operator establish and maintain a State-approved training programme for cabin crew members to ensure safety and operational excellence. We offer Initial Training for individuals who have not previously operated as cabin crew, equipping them with the essential competencies, knowledge, and practical skills required to perform their duties effectively during normal, abnormal, and emergency situations. Additionally, we conduct Recurrent Training on an annual basis to refresh and enhance the crew's knowledge, ensuring continued compliance with national and international aviation safety standards while upholding the highest levels of passenger safety and service.

Based on past experience, a typical training day consists of 6 to 7 simulator sessions, each lasting between 2 to 3 hours, with a lead time of 30 minutes to 1 hour before each session for preparation. This lead time allows for device setup, system calibration, and troubleshooting to ensure the simulator is fully operational and ready, thereby supporting efficient transitions and maximizing training effectiveness throughout the day. Each morning, cabin simulator engineers conduct a daily readiness check on all simulator devices to ensure their optimal functioning before training begins, which includes powering up each device, inspecting hardware and connections, and running diagnostics to verify system integrity. Engineers also test emergency equipment, confirm calibration of controls, and check that all required software and training scenarios are updated and properly loaded. In addition, before the commencement of each 3-hour simulator training session, a 30-minute to 1-hour preparation period is observed during which technicians verify the simulator's operational status, confirm all components are functional, and resolve any logged discrepancies. The environment is calibrated for realistic lighting and noise, essential systems and emergency equipment are verified, and any necessary software updates or scenario uploads are completed. This systematic approach to pre-session readiness and daily maintenance minimizes the risk of delays or interruptions, ensuring that all simulator devices operate at full capacity for a safe, efficient, and productive training experience.

7. DGCA Approved Classrooms: As part of its training infrastructure, the Company maintains DGCA-approved classrooms that meet the regulatory requirements for delivering theoretical instruction. These facilities are primarily used by visiting airlines to conduct classroom-based training sessions for their personnel prior to practical drills. The classrooms are equipped with standard instructional aids and are designed to support the structured delivery of safety, regulatory, and operational content.

OUR PROCESS

Our engagement with airline partners follows a structured and compliance-focused approach designed to ensure seamless onboarding and operational integration:

Airline Onboarding Process

1. Initial Contact and Proposal Submission

We initiate communication by sharing an Initial Training Proposal with the concerned airline representatives. This document outlines the capabilities of Flywings Simulator Training Centre Limited (FWSTCL), highlights our simulator infrastructure, and introduces the scope of training services offered.

2. Kick-off Meeting with Airline Training Heads

Following the proposal, we organize a Kick-off Meeting with the airline's Heads of Training Departments. This meeting serves to align expectations, discuss preliminary plans, and establish coordination between both parties from the outset.

3. Scoping and Objective Setting

We conduct a scoping exercise to define the project's objectives, specific training needs, timelines, and operational requirements. This step allows us to tailor our training approach to the airline's standards and procedures.

4. DGCA CSI Visit for Training Approval

We coordinate the mandatory visit of the Chief Safety Inspector (CSI), assigned by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA), for site inspection and training approval. This step is critical for regulatory compliance, particularly when airlines intend to conduct DGCA-approved training at our premises.

5. Issuance of Training Services Agreement (TSA)

Upon receiving the necessary regulatory clearances, we share the Training Services Agreement with the airline. This agreement typically spans 3–5 years and includes standard terms such as an annual fee escalation clause ranging from 2–8%.

6. Facility and Device Inspection by Airline Training Team

The airline's training team conducts a thorough inspection of our facilities and training devices to ensure they meet their technical and operational requirements prior to integration into their training programs.

7. Signing of Training Services Agreement (TSA) and Setup of Audit Schedule

Following successful inspections and agreement on terms, the TSA is signed. We also facilitate the setup of the airline's internal audit schedule, which may be conducted annually or bi-annually to maintain ongoing compliance and quality standards.

8. Finalization of Training Commencement Date

Once all contractual and regulatory steps are complete, a mutually agreed training commencement date is set, factoring in operational readiness and DGCA guidelines.

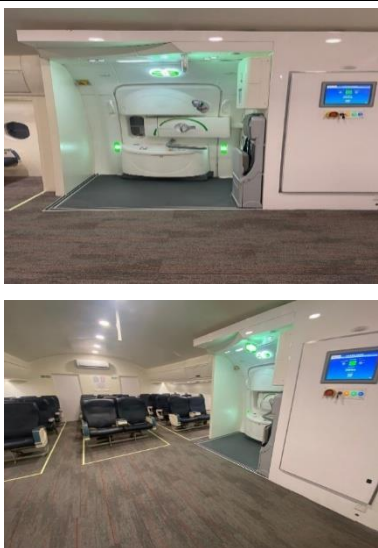

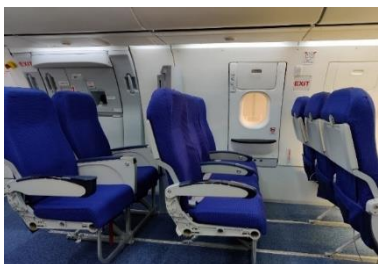

9. Training of Airline Instructors on Simulator Devices

Prior to full-scale implementation, airline instructors undergo hands-on training on the specific simulators and training devices at FWSTCL. This ensures familiarity with the equipment and consistency in the delivery of training modules.

DEVELOPMENT OF AN INTEGRATED AVIATION TRAINING ECOSYSTEM

We have methodically expanded our presence across multiple segments of the aviation training ecosystem, with the objective of offering a broader suite of services aligned to the sector's evolving skill requirements. In addition to Safety and Emergency Procedures (SEP) training for cabin crew and pilot professionals, we also undertake DGCA-regulated Remote Pilot Training (RPT) for drones through our wholly owned subsidiary, Flywings Drone Training Academy Private Limited. Further, we hold a substantial stake in Ambitions Flying Club Private Limited, a DGCA-approved Flying Training Organisation (FTO) engaged in commercial and private pilot training.

Our presence across these distinct, DGCA-regulated verticals supports our positioning as an integrated aviation training platform. While each business segment operates independently, this strategic diversification may enhance our visibility within the regulatory framework and among institutional stakeholders. Over the time, it is expected to contribute to a stronger brand profile and reinforce our understanding of aviation sector training requirements.

Select operational efficiencies may also be realised across technology systems, human resources, and infrastructure planning. Additionally, our multi-vertical presence may provide opportunities for limited inter-disciplinary exposure for students and trainees. While each vertical is subject to distinct regulatory and operational standards, our collective participation is consistent with our long-term objective of supporting the development of a skilled and compliant aviation workforce in India.

BUSINESS ACTIVITIES UNDER OUR SUBSIDIARY AND ASSOCIATE COMPANIES

A. Flywings Drone Training Private Limited (Wholly-owned Subsidiary):

Flywings Drone Training Private Limited ("FDT" or "the Company") is a 100% wholly owned subsidiary of Flywings Simulator Training Centre Limited. The Company was incorporated in October 2023 with the objective of diversifying the parent company's presence into the fast-evolving unmanned aviation sector, in line with national initiatives promoting the use of drones for commercial, agricultural, and surveillance purposes.

1. DGCA-Approved Drone Pilot Training

FDT is an approved Remote Pilot Training Organisation (RPTO) recognized by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA), authorized to conduct training programs for aspiring drone pilots. The training enables individuals to obtain a Remote Pilot Certificate (RPC), which is a statutory requirement to commercially operate Small Class Drones (2kg–25kg category) in India. The RPC legally empowers holders to conduct aerial drone operations within approved categories. (FDT) is a DGCA-approved Remote Pilot Training Organization (RPTO) under Authorization Number 49/2024. The approval covers VLOS (Visual Line of Sight) operations for Rotorcraft under the RPAS (Remotely Piloted Aircraft System) sub-category, classified as Small.

2. Training Infrastructure and Delivery

The DGCA-approved drone pilot training program is a structured five-day course that blends theoretical instruction with practical flight experience. The five-day training program begins with two days of classroom-based instruction conducted at FDT's approved academic facility in Begumpur Khatola, Sector 35, Gurugram. These sessions cover foundational aspects of drone operations, including regulations under the UAS Rules, classification of airspace, weather systems and communication protocols, emergency response procedures, and the assembly and maintenance of drone equipment. The remaining three days are dedicated to practical training at the Company's flight training field in Babra Bakipur, Farukhnagar, Gurugram. During this phase, trainees engage in both dual and solo flight exercises, hands-on assembly and troubleshooting, use of DGCA's Digital Sky Platform, and logging and reporting of flights.

DGCA Approved Classroom

Drone Training Ground

On successful completion, trainees receive a DGCA-issued Remote Pilot Certificate, valid for ten years. The course is open to candidates aged 18–65 with a minimum qualification of 10th pass (English medium). Course fees are inclusive of meals, local transport, and accommodation, ensuring a holistic and seamless training experience.

3. Asset Maintenance

The Company maintains Two Agricultural Drones with a payload capacity of 27 kg and a 10-litre spray tank, along with Two Surveillance Drones with a lighter 5 kg payload.

Spares & Tools

Drone Battery

Remote Controls

Drone Simulator

All drones and related infrastructure such as remote controllers, batteries, spares, and maintenance kits are housed at FDT's head office. The Company actively engages its RPC-certified trainees for operational assignments, creating a pathway for employment and on-ground experience post-certification.

4. Drone-As-a-Service (DaaS) as an Emerging Revenue Stream

FDT has recently undertaken two government tenders for the provision of Drone-as-a-Service (DaaS) for surveying government properties in West Bengal. Given the geographical constraints, the execution of these projects was carried out through an appointed third-party vendor. In parallel, FDT has also provided DaaS solutions to non-government clients for use cases such as aerial photography and videography.

Looking ahead, FDT intends to develop DaaS into a sustained alternate revenue stream. The Company is actively participating in government tenders and engaging with private-sector clients. Its drone fleet is capable of supporting a wide range of applications, particularly in the fields of agriculture and land surveying, across multiple industries.

In alignment with our strategic vision to develop a comprehensive aviation training ecosystem, Flywings Simulator Training Centre Limited owns a 49.65% equity stake in Ambitions Flying Club Private Limited ("Ambitions"), a DGCA-approved flying training organisation (FTO) providing commercial and private pilot training. Ambitions is a associate of Flywings Simulator Training Centre Limited.

I. Location and Infrastructure

Ambitions Flying Club is based at Karad Airport, situated on a 4,000-foot airstrip owned by the Maharashtra Airport Development Company (MADC), a Government of Maharashtra undertaking. The airport is located in Post Mundhe, Karad-Patan Road, Karad, Maharashtra – 415124, in a remote and rural region surrounded by hilly terrain. The site is secured through a controlled access gate, with no commercial passenger terminal infrastructure.

Under a long-term lease agreement with the Government of Maharashtra, Ambitions has been granted the right to use the airstrip exclusively for training and educational purposes. The lease is structured as an initial 3-year term, with renewal options in 3-year increments, extendable up to a maximum period of 20 years.

Ambitions has developed an operational training campus at this location comprising a hangar for aircraft parking and a built-up area with functional rooms designated for administrative, instructional, medical, safety, HR, accounts, and maintenance operations. The facility also houses classrooms and briefing areas for students.

II. Training Assets and Capabilities

Ambitions owns and operates a fleet of four single-engine aircraft, approved by DGCA for training purposes. These aircraft are equipped with GPS-based tracking systems and flight logging technology to record airborne activities in compliance with regulatory norms. Each aircraft is refuelled using Air Turbine Fuel (ATF) stored on-site in 200-litre barrels. The aircraft are maintained according to manufacturer and DGCA guidelines, with overhauls scheduled at pre-defined flying-hour intervals.

The flying school employs qualified Flying Instructors, Aircraft Maintenance Engineers, and Technical Staff, in accordance with DGCA-mandated staffing requirements.

Ambitions has established an Air Traffic Control (ATC) Room at its Karad base and is responsible for managing ATC communications for all aircraft using the airstrip. The club is also tasked with the maintenance of the airstrip and its surroundings, including vegetation control and upkeep of the boundary wall, in adherence to DGCA safety and operational standards.

III. Operational Framework and Usage Rights

While the airstrip is primarily used for flight training operations by Ambitions, it occasionally serves as a landing and take-off site for government officials, political dignitaries, and other high-profile visitors using charter aircraft. In such instances, Ambitions receives prior intimation but does not retain any control over third-party usage scheduling. Training activities are temporarily suspended during these operations as per protocol.

Despite the absence of a dedicated meteorological station at Karad Airport, Ambitions obtains real-time weather data from India Meteorological Department (IMD) stations located in Kolhapur and Belgaum, ensuring safe and compliant flight planning.

The airstrip is equipped with night illumination infrastructure, enabling night flying, although such operations are infrequent due to operational constraints.

IV. Training Programs and Revenue Model

Ambitions provides structured training programs for obtaining both Private Pilot Licenses (PPL) and Commercial Pilot Licenses (CPL). These programs are approved by DGCA and require a minimum number of flying hours and theoretical instruction.

Candidates typically enrol after completing their 12th-grade education and clearing a prescribed aptitude and medical assessment. The training tenure ranges between 6 to 18 months, depending on the student's aptitude and flying frequency. The average course fee ranges between ₹50 Lakhs to ₹55 lakhs, which covers ground training, flying hours, and allied support. All flying activities are logged extensively by students and monitored by the institution, with data subject to periodic audit and inspection by DGCA.

Upon successful completion, students become eligible to apply for type-rating certifications on specific commercial aircraft and subsequently pursue employment with commercial airlines, making this program a foundational step in the aviation career lifecycle.

OUR COMPETITIVE STRENGTHS

1. Simulator Infrastructure Aligned with Majority of Indian Fleet Types

The company has strategically invested in training infrastructure that caters to aircraft types forming a significant portion of India's commercial aviation fleet. These include narrow-body and wide-body aircraft platforms widely deployed across domestic and regional international routes. The simulators are sourced from established manufacturers in Europe and the Middle East. The procurement, installation, and commissioning of such equipment involves considerable capital expenditure and long gestation timelines. In addition, maintaining operational readiness through routine technical upkeep and upgrades adds to the overall complexity. The capital intensity, technical specialization, and long lead time associated with operationalizing such simulators constitute a substantial entry barrier to new participants in this segment.

2. Recurring Revenue Streams Supported by High Switching Costs

The company operates on a recurring revenue model anchored in medium to long-term arrangements with airline operators. As per regulatory norms, crew members are required to undergo periodic training in Safety and Emergency Procedures (SEP), ensuring continued demand for the company's services. Prior to initiating training at any external facility, airlines must conduct a detailed technical and infrastructure audit and obtain approval from DGCA. This requirement creates high switching costs and operational friction for airlines, leading to sustained client relationships and predictable revenue visibility over multi-year horizons.

3. Regulatory Compliance Model That Enables Operational Flexibility

Although the training centre itself operates independently of direct DGCA approval owing to the current regulatory structure; airlines are mandated to obtain DGCA authorization for training conducted at third-party premises. This structure allows the company to operate within a compliant framework while avoiding direct regulatory exposure. It also offers flexibility in serving multiple clients without requiring separate certifications for each course or operator, enabling higher throughput and utilization of fixed infrastructure.

4. Strategic Location with Significant Entry Barrier Advantages

The training facility is located in Gurgaon, in proximity to the operational and corporate headquarters of several airlines. This provides a logistical advantage for client personnel undergoing training as it facilitates ease of access for client personnel attending mandatory training sessions, reduces travel and scheduling friction, and enhances the Company's ability to coordinate recurrent training programs with airline operational calendars. It is also located in close proximity to Indira Gandhi International Airport, which is one of the busiest aviation hubs in South Asia. The locational advantage facilitates the Company's ability to serve airline clients efficiently and with minimal operational disruption.

COMPETITION

The market for simulator-based Safety and Emergency Procedures (SEP) training for cabin crew and pilot professionals in India is characterized by high capital intensity, adherence to regulatory standards, and the need for sustained infrastructure maintenance. As a result, organized competition within this specific vertical remains limited.

While a number of training academies operate in the broader aviation training space, primarily offering soft skills, grooming, and service-oriented modules to individuals seeking employment in the aviation and hospitality sectors; the number of institutions equipped with full-scale SEP simulators that replicate aircraft-specific emergency conditions remains sparse.

Among existing players, AAG Centre for Aviation Training, with locations in Siliguri and Chennai, is currently the only other known entity deploying simulator-based infrastructure for SEP training. However, their operations are predominantly Business-to-Customer (B2C) in nature and primarily oriented toward entry-level training for aspiring professionals. Their scale, simulator infrastructure, and industry integration are limited in comparison to large-scale third-party training providers operating in a Business-to-Business (B2B) model.

Other companies, such as Aptech and Edulem, offer aviation-related training as one of several education verticals. These programs are often structured for general aviation orientation and lack the advanced physical infrastructure or regulatory interface necessary for aircraft-specific safety training. Additionally, their business models focus more on academic and vocational certifications than on recurrent, regulatorily compliant training for operational airline personnel.

While the market for simulator-based SEP training currently offers limited organized competition, a potential risk to our business model arises from the possibility of commercial airlines developing in-house SEP training infrastructure. Such a move could impact the long-term sustainability of third-party training providers by reducing external demand. However, at present, we believe this risk is mitigated by a combination of structural, regulatory, and financial factors that make internalization economically and operationally unviable for most airlines. The practical considerations outlined below continue to protect our business –

1. Suboptimal Utilization Relative to Cost

Simulator-based SEP training, while mandatory, is required only at defined intervals (typically annual or biennial) for a finite set of cabin crew. For most carriers, the volume of training required does not justify the high upfront and recurring costs of operating in-house simulators. This results in significant underutilization if developed internally, making third-party facilities a more viable solution.

2. High Capital Expenditure and Long Gestation Period

The development of full-scale SEP simulators involves substantial capital investment, long procurement timelines, and extended commissioning periods. These factors, combined with the need for specialized technical integration and maintenance capabilities, make it commercially unattractive for most airlines, particularly in the context of other capital priorities such as fleet augmentation or route expansion.

3. Strategic Focus on Core Operations

Airlines, especially in the low-cost and hybrid segments, continue to follow an asset-light model with a strong emphasis on core operations such as fleet management, network optimization, and customer service delivery. Training infrastructure particularly for non-flight operations is increasingly outsourced to specialized third-party facilities, enabling cost efficiency, greater focus, and access to updated technologies without direct ownership burden.

4. Technological Obsolescence and Upkeep

Simulator infrastructure is exposed to risks of obsolescence driven by changes in aircraft configurations, training protocols, and evolving DGCA requirements. Maintaining regulatory-grade simulators entails periodic upgrades, technical audits, and capital outlay that can be difficult to justify on a standalone basis. By contrast, specialized facilities like Flywing's are better positioned to manage these updates due to diversified airline usage.

5. Real Estate and Spatial Constraints

Setting up a simulator facility requires significant floor area and structural clearances to support vertical evacuation slides and related training equipment. Land acquisition in urban or aviation-centric clusters such as Gurugram, Mumbai, or Bengaluru is increasingly cost-prohibitive. Flywing's facility, established over a decade ago, represents a material advantage that is not easily replicable today.

6. Regulatory Compliance and DGCA Oversight

Although airlines can conduct training at third-party facilities, such usage must be approved by DGCA under each airline's training manual. Obtaining and maintaining regulatory clearance for new infrastructure involves a high administrative and compliance burden. Relying on established facilities that are already audited and approved reduces regulatory friction, further reinforcing the stickiness of third-party training models.

In light of the significant capital outlay, long gestation periods, regulatory prerequisites, and recurring operational obligations associated with simulator-based SEP training, the competitive landscape remains limited and fragmented. While a few players offer aviation training services, the number of institutions capable of delivering simulator-enabled, DGCA-compliant SEP modules at scale is negligible. As a result, the Company presently operates in a niche segment with minimal direct competition, functioning effectively as one of the only organized third-party providers of simulator-based SEP training for commercial airlines in India.

OUR BUSINESS STRATEGY

i. Development of an Integrated Aviation Training Ecosystem

The Company has expanded its presence across multiple DGCA-regulated verticals with the objective of offering a broader suite of training services aligned to the aviation sector's evolving skill requirements. In addition to Safety and Emergency Procedures ("SEP") training infrastructure for airline cabin crew and pilots, the Company conducts Remote Pilot Training ("RPT") for drones through its wholly owned subsidiary, Flywings Drone Training Private Limited, and also holds a substantial stake in Ambitions Flying Club Private Limited, a DGCA-approved Flying Training Organization engaged in commercial and private pilot training. This multi-vertical presence positions the Company as an integrated aviation training platform and strengthens its visibility among regulators and institutional stakeholders.

ii. Investment in Advanced Training Equipment

Pursuant to the Objects of the Issue, the Company proposes to invest in CEET 320 equipment, a 6 DOF Motion Platform, and an Airbus A320neo Fixed Base Flight Simulator. These additions are intended to materially enhance the quality, scope, and effectiveness of the Company's training programmes by replicating real-world operational environments. Such investment is expected to elevate the Company's capability to train pilots and cabin crew on type-specific and emergency procedures, thereby aligning its infrastructure with international training standards and supporting prospective contractual arrangements with airlines and charter operators.

OUR MARKETING STRATEGY

Our marketing approach is rooted in cultivating and sustaining relationships with airline companies. Business development efforts are relationship-driven, with a focus on credibility, operational consistency, and alignment with the evolving training requirements of airline partners. The Company engages directly with airline stakeholders through structured interactions and referrals, leveraging its track record in aviation training to drive repeat business and long-term associations.

1. B2B Marketing Strategy

In its B2B vertical, the Company's marketing efforts are centred on cultivating and sustaining long-standing relationships with airline operators. Business development is relationship-driven, supported by credibility, operational consistency, and alignment with the evolving training requirements of airline partners. The Company engages directly with airline stakeholders through interactions, referrals, and periodic communications, enabling it to secure repeat business and long-term contracts.

The Company has not identified any other operator offering a replicable business model of comparable scale and reputation, which positions it as a differentiated infrastructure partner for airlines. This approach minimises the need for conventional advertising and instead leverages credibility to drive client acquisition and retention.

2. B2C Marketing Strategy

In its B2C vertical, the Company has initiated digital marketing initiatives on a limited scale, including search engine optimisation and social media outreach, and intends to expand these efforts based on performance outcomes. In addition, the Company actively participates in promotional activities such as seminars, webinars, educational fairs, and other events to enhance visibility among prospective trainees.

The Company has also entered into or is in active arrangements with educational institutions, including Chandigarh University and Galgotias University, to facilitate student outreach and pipeline development. Over time, the Company intends to scale its B2C marketing campaign in line with the demand trajectory for aviation and drone pilot training.

The Act provides effective legal provision to restrain people from issuing cheques without having sufficient funds in their account or any stringent provision to punish them in the event of such cheques not being honored by their bankers and returned unpaid. Section 138 of the Act, creates statutory offense in the matter of dishonor of cheques on the ground of insufficiency of funds in the account maintained by a person with the banker which is punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine which may extend to twice the amount of the cheque, or with both.

GST is levied on all transactions such as sale, transfer, purchase, barter, lease, or import of goods and/or services. India has adopted a dual GST model, meaning that taxation is administered by both the Union and State Governments. Transactions made within a single state are levied with Central GST (CGST) by the Central Government and State GST (SGST) by the government of that state. For inter-state transactions and imported goods or services, an Integrated GST (IGST) is levied by the Central Government. GST is a consumption-based tax; therefore, taxes are paid to the state where the goods or services are consumed and not the state in which they were produced.

- Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2019

The Government of India enacted ‘The Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2019 which received the assent of the President of India on September 28, 2020. This law is applicable to all the establishments employing 5 or more migrant workmen from other states. In addition to this, this law is also applicable to contractors who have employed 5 or more inter-State workmen. The same law applies to the contractors too who employ workers from one state and deploy them in other states. As per this law, the contractors deploying the migrant workers must provide terms and conditions of the recruitment to the workers. These are the remuneration payable, hours of work, fixation of wages and other essential amenities.

- The Industrial Relations Code, 2020

The Government of India enacted ‘The Industrial Relations Code, 2020’ which received the assent of the President of India on September 28, 2020. For every trade dispute a trade union has to be formed. For the purpose of Trade Union Act, 1926, Trade Union means combination, whether temporary or permanent, formed primarily for the purpose of regulating the relations between workmen and employers or between workmen and workmen, or between employers and employers, or for imposing restrictive conditions on the conduct of any trade or business etc.

- Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act, 1946 (the “Standing Orders”)

The Standing Orders were passed by the Central Government to bring uniformity in the terms of employment in industrial establishments having 50 or more workmen employed, so as to minimize industrial conflicts. The Standing Orders play a key role in defining the terms and conditions of employment within an industrial establishment. The highlights of the Standing Orders are classification of workmen, manner of intimation to workers about work and wage related details, attendance and conditions for leaves, conditions of termination of employment and means of redressal for workmen in different matters.

- The Code on Social Security, 2020

The Government of India enacted ‘The Code on Social Security, 2020 which received the assent of the President of India on September 28, 2020. The Employee's Act also lays down the duties/obligations of an employer and penalties in cases of non-fulfilment of such obligations. There are separate methods of calculation or estimation of compensation for injury sustained by the employee. The employer is required to submit to the Commissioner for Employees' Compensation a report regarding any fatal or serious bodily injury suffered by an employee within 7 days of death/serious bodily injury.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS

Intellectual property in India enjoys protection under both common law and statutes. Under statutes, India provides for patent protection under the Patents Act, 1970, copyright protection under the Copyright Act, 1957 and trademark protection under the Trademarks Act, 1999. These enactments provide for the protection of intellectual property by imposing civil and criminal liability for infringement. In addition to the domestic laws, India is party to several international intellectual property related instruments including the Patent Cooperation Treaty, 1970, the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property, 1883, the Berne Convention for the Protection of Literary and Artistic Works, 1886, the Universal Copyright Convention adopted at Geneva in 1952, the International Convention for the Protection of Performers, Producers of Phonograms and Broadcasting Organizations, 1961 and as a member of the World Trade Organisation is a signatory to the Agreement on Trade Related aspects of Intellectual Property Rights.

The Trade Marks Act, 1999 (“Trade Marks Act”)

The Trade Marks Act governs the statutory protection of trademarks and prevention of the use of fraudulent marks in India. Indian law permits the registration of trademarks for both goods and services. Under the provisions of the Trade Marks Act, an application for trademark registration may be made with the Trade Marks Registry by any person or persons claiming to be the proprietor of a trade mark, whether individually or as joint applicants, and can be made on the basis of either actual use or intention to use a trademark in the future. Once granted, a trademark registration is valid for 10 years unless cancelled, subsequent to which, it can be renewed. If not renewed, the mark lapses and the registration is required to be restored to gain protection under the provisions of the Trade Marks Act. The Trade Marks Act prohibits registration of deceptively similar trademarks and provides for penalties for infringement, falsifying and falsely applying trademarks among others. Further, pursuant to the notification of the Trade Marks (Amendment) Act, 2010, simultaneous protection of trademark in India and other countries has been made available to owners of Indian and foreign trademarks. It also seeks to simplify the law relating to the transfer of ownership of trademarks by assignment or transmission and to bring the law in line with international practices.

Copyright Act, 1957 (“Copyright Act”)

The Copyright Act, 1957, along with the Copyright Rules, 1958, (collectively, “Copyright Laws”) governs copyrights subsisting in original literary, dramatic, musical or artistic works, cinematograph films, and sound recordings, including computer programmes, tables and compilations including computer databases. Computer programme constitutes a literary work under Indian law and is afforded copyright protection and the owner of such computer programme becomes entitled to protect his works against unauthorized use and misappropriation of the copyrighted work or a substantial part thereof. Any act of this nature entitles the copyright owner to obtain relief from a court of law including injunction, damages and accounts of profits. Further, copyright registration is not a prerequisite for acquiring or enforcing a copyright in an otherwise copyrightable work and once registered, copyright protection remains valid until expiry of sixty years from the demise of the author. Reproduction of a copyrighted computer programme for sale or hire or trade exhibit in public or distribution or commercial rental, offer for sale or commercial rental, issuing copy(ies) of the computer programme or making an adaptation of the work without consent of the copyright owner amounts to infringement of the copyright. However, the Copyright Act prescribes certain fair use exceptions which permit certain acts, which would otherwise be considered copyright infringement.

The Patents Act, 1970

The Patents Act, 1970 (“Patents Act”) governs the patent regime in India. Being a signatory to the Agreement on Trade Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights, India is required to recognize product patents as well as process patents. In addition to the broad requirement that an invention satisfy the requirements of novelty, utility and non-obviousness in order for it to avail patent protection, the Patents Act further provides that patent protection may not be granted to certain specified types of inventions and materials even if they satisfy the above criteria. Section 39 of the Patents Act also prohibits any person resident in India from applying for a patent for an invention outside India without making an application for a patent for the same invention in India. The term of a patent granted under the Patents Act pursuant to Section 53 is for a period of twenty years from the date of filing of the application for the patent. A patent shall cease to have effect if the renewal fee is not paid within the period prescribed for the payment of such renewal fee. While the Patents Act prohibits patentability of a 'computer programme' as such, computer programmes in combination with novel hardware could be considered patentable depending on the substance of the invention and applicable provisions of the Patents Act. Computer programmes on their own are excluded from patent protection and are protected as a literary work under the Copyright Laws. In terms of the Patent Act, the patentee holds the exclusive right to prevent third parties from the using, offering for sale, selling or importing for such purposes, the patented product or product obtained directly by a process patented in India.

FOREIGN INVESTMENT LAWS:

Foreign Trade (Development and Regulation) Act, 1992

The FTDR is the main legislation concerning foreign trade in India. The FTDR, read along with the Foreign Trade (Regulation) Rules, 1993, provides for the development and regulation of foreign trade by facilitating imports into, and augmenting exports from, India and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto. It authorizes the government to formulate as well as announce the export and import policy and to keep amending the same on a timely basis. The government has also been given wide power to prohibit, restrict and regulate the exports and imports in general as well as specified cases of foreign trade. The FTDR read with the Foreign Trade Policy, 2023, prohibits anybody from undertaking any import or export except under an importer-exporter code ("IEC") number granted by the Director General of Foreign Trade. Hence, every entity in India engaged in any activity involving import/export is required to obtain an IEC unless specifically exempted from doing so. The IEC shall be valid until it is cancelled by the issuing authority. An IEC number allotted to an applicant is valid for all its branches, divisions, units and factories. Failure to obtain the IEC number shall attract a penalty under the FTDR.

Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 & Rules thereunder

Foreign investment in India is governed primarily by the provisions of the FEMA, and the rules, regulations and notifications thereunder, as issued by the RBI from time to time and the FEMA Rules and the Consolidated FDI Policy. In terms of the Consolidated FDI Policy, foreign investment is permitted (except in the prohibited sectors) in Indian companies either through the automatic route or the Government route, depending upon the sector in which the foreign investment is sought to be made. In terms of the Consolidated FDI Policy, the work of granting government approval for foreign investment under the Consolidated FDI Policy and FEMA has now been entrusted to the concerned administrative ministries/departments.

SEBI/HO/CFD/DIL2/CIR/P/2019/76 dated June 28, 2019, circular no. SEBI/HO/CFD/DIL2/CIR/P/2019/85 dated July 26, 2019, circular no. SEBI/HO/CFD/DCR2/CIR/P/2019/133 dated November 08, 2019 and circular SEBI/HO/CFD/DIL2/CIR/P/2020/50 dated March 30, 2020 (collectively the “UPI Circulars”) in relation to streamlining the process of public Offer of equity shares and convertibles. Pursuant to the UPI Circulars, the UPI Mechanism has been introduced in a phased manner as a payment mechanism (in addition to mechanism of blocking funds in the account maintained with SCSBs under the ASBA) for applications by RIBs through intermediaries with the objective to reduce the time duration from public Offer closure to listing from six working days to up to three working days. Considering the time required for making necessary changes to the systems and to ensure complete and smooth transition to the UPI payment mechanism, the UPI Circular proposes to introduce and implement the UPI payment mechanism in three phases in the following manner:

Phase I: This phase was applicable from January 1, 2019 until March 31, 2019, or floating of five main board public issues, whichever is later. Subsequently, the timeline for implementation of Phase I was extended till June 30, 2019. Under this phase, a Individual Investor had the option to submit the Application Form with any of the Designated Intermediary and use his / her UPI ID for the purpose of blocking of funds. The time duration from public Offer closure to listing continued to be six working days.

Phase II: This phase has become applicable from July 1, 2019 and was to initially continued for a period of three months or floating of five main board public issues, whichever is later. Subsequently, it was decided to extend the timeline for implementation of Phase II until March 31, 2020. Further, as per SEBI circular SEBI/HO/CFD/DIL2/CIR/P/2020/50 dated March 30, 2020, the current Phase II of Unified Payments Interface with Application Supported by Blocked Amount is continued till further notice. Under this phase, submission of the ASBA Form by RIBs through Designated Intermediaries (other than SCSBs) to SCSBs for blocking of funds will be discontinued and will be replaced by the UPI payment mechanism. However, the time duration from public Offer closure to listing continues to be six working days during this phase.

Phase III: This phase has become applicable on a voluntary basis for all issues opening on or after September 1, 2023, and on a mandatory basis for all issues opening on or after December 1, 2023, vide SEBI circular bearing number SEBI/HO/CFD/TPD1/CIR/P/2023/140 dated August 9, 2023 ("T+3 Notification"). In this phase, the time duration from public Offer closure to listing has been reduced to three Working Days. The Offer shall be undertaken pursuant to the processes and procedures as notified in the T+3 Notification as applicable, subject to any circulars, clarification or notification issued by the SEBI from time to time, including any circular, clarification or notification which may be issued by SEBI.

The Offer is being made under Phase III of the UPI (on a mandatory basis).

The processing fees for applications made by UPI Bidders using the UPI Mechanism may be released to the SCSBs only after such banks provide a written confirmation, in compliance with the SEBI RTA Master Circular in a format as prescribed by SEBI, from time to time, and such payment of processing fees to the SCSBs shall be made in compliance with circulars prescribed by SEBI and applicable law. Accordingly, the Issue has been undertaken pursuant to the processes and procedures under UPI Phase III, subject to any circulars, clarification or notification issued by the SEBI pursuant to the T+3 Notification. The Issue has been advertised in English national newspaper edition of Financial Express (a widely circulated English national daily newspaper), Hindi national newspaper edition of Janasatta (a widely circulated Hindi national daily newspaper) and regional newspaper Gurgaon edition of Pratahkiran (Hindi being the regional language of Gurgaon, Haryana where our registered office is located), on or prior to the Bid/Issue Opening Date and such advertisement has also been made available to the Stock Exchange for the purpose of uploading on their websites.

All SCSBs offering facility of making application in public issues shall also provide facility to make application using the UPI Mechanism. The Issuers will be required to appoint one of the SCSBs as a sponsor bank to act as a conduit between the Stock Exchanges and NPCI in order to facilitate collection of requests and / or payment instructions of the Individual Applicants into the UPI payment mechanism.

Pursuant to the SEBI UPI Circular, SEBI has set out specific requirements for redressal of investor grievances for applications that have been made through the UPI Mechanism. The requirements of the SEBI UPI Circular include, appointment of a nodal officer by the SCSB and submission of their details to SEBI, the requirement for SCSBs to send SMS alerts for the blocking and unblocking of UPI mandates, the requirement for the Registrar to submit details of cancelled, withdrawn or deleted applications, and the requirement for the bank accounts of unsuccessful Bidders to be unblocked not later than one day from the date on which the Basis of Allotment is finalised. Failure to unblock the accounts within the timeline would result in the SCSBs being penalised under the relevant securities law. Additionally, if there is any delay in the redressal of investors' complaints in this regard, the relevant SCSB as well as the post – Offer Book Running Lead Managers will be required to compensate the concerned investor.

The processing fees for applications made by UPI Bidders using the UPI Mechanism may be released to the remitter banks (SCSBs) only after such banks make an application as prescribed in Annexure I of SEBI circular no. SEBI/HO/CFD/DIL2/CIR/P/2022/51 dated April 20, 2022 and provide a written confirmation on compliance with SEBI circular no. Bidders can bid at any price within the Price Band. For instance, assume a Price Band of ₹20 to ₹24 per share, offer size of 3,000 Equity Shares and receipt of five Bids from Bidders, details of which are shown in the table below. The illustrative book given below shows the demand for the Equity Shares of the Issuer at various prices and is collated from Bids received from various investors.

Bid Quantity	Bid Amount (₹)	Cumulative Quantity	Subscription
500	24	500	16.67%
1,000	23	1,500	50.00%
1,500	22	3,000	100.00%
2,000	21	5,000	166.67%
2,500	20	7,500	250.00%

The price discovery is a function of demand at various prices. The highest price at which the Issuer is able to Offer the desired number of Equity Shares is the price at which the book cuts off, i.e., ₹22.00 in the above example. The Issuer, in consultation with the Book Running Lead Managers, may finalise the Offer Price at or below such Cut-Off Price, i.e., at or below ₹22.00. All Bids at or above this Offer Price and cut-off Bids are valid Bids and are considered for allocation in the respective categories.

The total number of Shares to be allocated to each category as a whole shall be arrived at on a proportionate basis i.e. the total number of Shares applied for in that category multiplied by the inverse of the over subscription ratio (number of applicants in the category X number of Shares applied for).

- a) For applications where the proportionate allotment works out to less than [●] equity shares the allotment will be made as follows:
 1. Each successful applicant shall be allotted [●] equity shares; and
 2. The successful applicants out of the total applicants for that category shall be determined by the drawl of lots in such a manner that the total number of Shares allotted in that category is equal to the number of Shares worked out as per (2) above.
- b) If the proportionate allotment to an applicant works out to a number that is not a multiple of [●] equity shares, the applicant would be allotted Shares by rounding off to the nearest multiple of [●] equity shares subject to a minimum allotment of [●] equity shares.
- c) If the Shares allotted on a proportionate basis to any category is more than the Shares allotted to the applicants in that category, the balance available Shares for allocation shall be first adjusted against any category, where the allotted Shares are not sufficient for proportionate allotment to the successful applicants in that category, the balance Shares, if any, remaining after such adjustment will be added to the category comprising of applicants applying for the minimum number of Shares. If as a result of the process of rounding off to the nearest multiple of [●] equity shares, results in the actual allotment being higher than the shares offered, the final allotment may be higher at the sole discretion of the Board of Directors, up to 110% of the size of the offer specified under the Capital Structure mentioned in this Red Herring Prospectus.
- d) The above proportionate allotment of shares in an Offer that is oversubscribed shall be subject to the reservation for small individual applicants as described below:
